

Spring 2010 Social Justice Women & Law
Stories Conference

The Power of Women's Stories II:
Examining Women's Role in Law and the Legal System

Friday, April 16, 2010 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Santa Clara University School of Law
500 El Camino Real, Bannan Hall 142
Santa Clara, California 95053

Law schools began offering Women and Law courses in the early 1970s. Since that time, many textbooks have examined law through the lens of feminist legal theory. Women continue to feel the impact of changing legal developments in areas as disparate as violence against women, sexual harassment, discrimination at work, mothering and reproduction, families, women and the legal profession, education, and health. Yet scholars have often neglected the power of women's stories and the lessons these stories teach us about law and social change. This conference focuses on the women whose lives led to these legal changes and who continue to inspire the need for further progress.

All attendees must register for the conference, as space is limited. Admission is free for Santa Clara University Community members and Non-SCU Law Students and $125.00 for other attendees. The $125.00 registration fee includes a buffet breakfast, box lunch, snacks, and reception. Santa Clara University Community members and Non-SCU Law Students who wish to reserve a box lunch should enclose $15.00 with their registration. The registration fee covers conference attendance. You must make your own hotel arrangements. See www.scu.edu/map/visiting/index.cfm for information on places to stay near campus. See www.scu.edu/map/parking/directions.cfm for directions to campus and parking.

Make all checks payable to Santa Clara University-Center for Social Justice. Registration Deadline Friday, April 2, 2010 at Noon.
