1. Generally

a. Principal – one for whom an action is to be taken

b. Agent – one who is to act [capacity: anyone can be an agent]
   i. General – agent authorized to conduct series of transactions involving continuity of service
   ii. Special – agent authorized to conduct single/series of transactions NOT involving continuity of service

R2d § 1

c. Agency – fiduciary relationship that results from a manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act
   i. Parties mutually agree that
      1. Agent will act on behalf of Principal a. Where one undertakes to transact business or manage some affair for another by authority and on account for the latter

d. Note ubiquity of agency in business law – pervade nearly all aspects

   Sole proprietorship (P) with one employee (A)                      Sharesholders (P) and Board of Directors (A)

e. Default rules are rules that apply in the absence of contrary agreement between the parties
2. Formation: One person (P) consents that another (A) shall act on P’s behalf and under P’s control and agent consents to do so

   a. Manifestation by Principal that Agent will act on his behalf

   b. Agent is subject to principal’s control

   c. Agent manifests consent to act for the principal (by agreement or conduct)

   d. Consent – express or implied

      i. Manifestations of Consent by P that A Act

         • Directs what contracts may or may not be made • Right of first refusal • Right of entry
         • Strong paternal guidance • Financing everything
         • Constant recommendations • Consent to mortgage/dividends/stock • Correspondences re: finances and salaries • C’s name on draft forms • Power to discontinue financing

      ii. May raise to level of formal contract

         1. But does not necessarily require:

            a. Contract

            b. Compensation (i.e. gratuitous)

               i. But presumption is that agency relationships are not gratuitous

            c. Matter of business

               iii. May arise although parties did NOT call it agency and did NOT intend legal consequences of the relation to follow

         e. Behalf – coach drives car so that teacher did not have to (Doty)
f. Subject to Control – what A shall/not do i. Manner and means of agent work

ii. Setting the boundaries of what A is supposed to do on P’s behalf

iii. Within any relationship of agency the principal initially states what the agent shall and shall not do, in specific or general terms

iv. P’s right to give interim instructions or directions to the agent once their relationship is established

   1. Power to give interim instructions distinguishes from those who contract to receive services provided by non-agents

   2. Control as practical matter: incomplete – no agent is an automaton who mindlessly but perfectly executes commands

v. BUT Physical control over actions NOT necessary

   1. So long as: P directs result or ultimate objectives of agent relationship

      a. Ex: ask friend to do slight service – return for credit goods recently purchased from store – agency exists even though no compensation or other consideration was contemplated

vi. Buyer/Supplier Relationship re: Principal Agent

   1. Supplier has independent business before conclusion he is NOT agent

      i. Note: ~ must in restatement

   2. One who contracts to acquire property from 3P and convey it to another is agent of the other party ONLY IF it is agreed that he is to act primarily for the benefit of the other and not himself

3. Factors yielding Buyer/Seller

   a. Sell products at fixed price irrespective of price paid

   b. Act in own name and receive title to goods he will then transfer

   c. Independent business in buying and selling similar property 3. Agency Relationship: Liability

   a. P liable for acts of A

      i. Vicarious Liability arising between Principal and 3P

         1. For whoever employs another is answerable for him and undertakes for his care to all that make use of him a. Master subject for liability of torts of his servants omitted while acting in scope of employment

   b. Agent may interact with TP

      i. Ability of A to bind P differs between Tort and Contract

   c. Liability of P to 3P in Contract

      i. A principal is subject to liability upon contracts made by an agent acting within his authority if made in proper form and with understanding that principal is a party

4. Agent’s Authority – ways of classifying proof must offer to bind principal to a contract

   Except for execution of instruments . . . required by statute to be authorized in a particular way, authority to act can be created by written or spoken words or other conduct of the Principal, which, reasonably interpreted, causes the agent to believe that the principal desires him so to act on the principal’s account

   a. Actual Authority – what agent reasonably believes authority to act

      i. Communications: what could A have reasonably believed scope of his authority to be . . . in face of explicit instructions not to do something, agent has no actual authority to do it

      ii. By custom: Unless otherwise agreed, authority to conduct a transaction includes authority to do acts which are incidental to it, usually accompany it, or are reasonably necessary to accomplish it

      1. What is objectively or customarily done in these circumstances

      iii. An agent has actual authority to take action designated OR IMPLIED in the principal’s manifestations to the agent and acts necessary or incidental to achieving the principal’s objectives, as the agent reasonably understands the principal’s manifestations and objectives when the agent determines how to act

      1. Agent’s subjective reasonable belief
iv. Express Actual – instruction (P tells A to do this) ... look @ agreement

v. Implied Actual – agent has implied actual authority to use all means reasonably necessary to carry out a particular result that was expressly mandated by Principal

1. So express manifestation requirement = manage building (ex.)
   a. While not expressly granted, is implied by law because such acts are necessarily incidental
      i. P does not have to say something explicitly, because it is reasonable for an agent to infer from the context that P wanted A to go make this contract

2. Ex: Publisher hires author to write about foreign country
   a. Author does field work and has to communicate with locals who don’t speak English so he hires interpreter
   b. K exists with interpreter and publisher

3. Subagent – person appointed by an agent empowered to do so, to perform functions undertaken by the agent for the principal, but for whose conduct the agent agrees with the principal to be primarily responsible
   a. Apparent Authority – what did 3P reasonably believe agent was entitled to do?
      i. Power to affect legal relations of another person by transactions with 3Ps, 1. Professedly as agent for another, a. Arising from and in accordance with other’s manifestations to such 3Ps
      ii. Use P’s past or present conduct but CANNOT prove with mere statements 1. Factor: nature of task/job
         2. Existence: similar practices \(\rightarrow\) most important
      iii. Express or Implied – act of putting agent in such position that leads 3P to reasonably believe agent has authority
         1. By written or spoken words or by any other conduct of the principal, which, reasonably interpreted, causes the third person to believe that the principal consents to have the act done on his behalf by the person purporting to act for him

iv. Need some connection between 3P + Principal

1. Always look: how 3P learned of the A’s alleged authority AND a. Ask whether the principal reasonably can be said to have been the source of that knowledge

v. Principal’s manifestations to 3Ps are what count with apparent authority

1. If the actions or words of the principal have led the 3P to reasonably believe that the agent was authorized to enter into a contract then the contract is valid against the Principal AND 3P
   a. NOTE: requisite connection between the Principal and 3P could be affected by persons other than the Principal
   b. Prior conduct may be evidence of manifestation (Mill Church)

vi. Absent knowledge on part of 3P to contrary, agent has apparent authority to do things that are usual and proper to conduct of business which he is employed to conduct

1. Absent knowledge of such limitation, limitation will not bar claim of apparent authority
   a. Salesman has authority to bind employer to sell

vii. P-landlord, A-manager/tenant, 3P-janitor

1. A can impact P’s legal relationship to 3P as long as 3P has received manifestation of that apparent authority a. By putting someone in charge whom any 3P would presume has such [agent] authority viii. DEFEAT apparent authority

1. Plaintiff must reasonably believe agent had authority
2. Make any such belief unreasonable by notice (actual/constructive)
3. Train agents and give notice to potential 3Ps
4. Form contract requiring approval by contract manager

ix. Concept of cheaper cost avoider

1. Loss should be put on the party who could have most <$ spent avoided it 2. Avoiding social losses
   a. Step 1 – find actor who can achieve the greatest reduction of accident costs with the lowest expenditure of precaution costs
i. Seeking to minimize total social costs

b. Step 2 – place liability on that individual

c. Inherent Authority

i. Power of agent derived not from authority but SOLELY from agency relationship and exists for protections of 3P harmed by or dealing with a servant or other agent . . .

ii. RARE but arises under two circumstances

1. Agent who exceeds his authority

2. Undisclosed Principal

a. When 3P reasonably believes actor has authority to act on behalf of the principal . . . belief traced to P’s manifestations

b. Contracts entered into on P’s behalf by A lacking actual authority can still be binding on the principal if the agent has apparent authority

c. Watteau [classic shirking] – hotel sold to Δ but old owner retained as manager. License taken out in manager’s name but he had no authority to buy any supplies excepted bottled ales and water

i. He bought but did not pay for things outside scope

d. Principal is liable for all the acts . . . which are within the authority usually confined to an agent of that character

i. Agent enters into transactions that are usual in such business and on the principal’s account

Rest. § 195

e. Partially Disclosed Principal

i. If the other party to transaction has notice that the agent is or may be acting for the principal but has NO notice of principal’s identity, principal for whom the agent is acting is a partially disclosed principal

ii. Scope of authority: Principal liable for all acts that are within authority usually confined to an agent of that character

iii. Agent enters into transactions that are usual in such business and on principal’s account 5. Agent as Fiduciary

a. Agent is a fiduciary with respect to matters within the scope of his agency R2d § 13
   i. Held to higher standard than arms-length ii. Agency is the fiduciary relationship that arises when Principal manifests assent to Agent that the agent shall act on the principal’s behalf and subject to the principal’s control, and the agent manifests assent or otherwise consents so to act iii. Cannot act as though simply participating in the ordinary marketplace iv. May be greater remedies vs. breach of contract
b. One of the parties is duty bound to act with the utmost good faith for the benefit of the other party
c. Fiduciary Duties:
   i. Care
      1. Obligation to do your best to avoid negligence
      2. Paid agent must possess and exercise the degree of care and skill that is standard in the locality for the kind of work the agent performs
      3. A gratuitous agent need only exercise the care and skill required of non-agents who perform similar gratuitous undertakings
      4. Cannot waive - To devote his or her entire time, skill, labor, and attention to said employment … and not to engage in any other business or vocation of a permanent nature
   ii. Loyalty – avoid conflict of interest 1. Not putting your interests ahead of the principal’s iii. Kickbacks
   iv. Secret profits
      1. Agent has a duty to act solely for the benefit of the principal in all matters connected with his agency Rest. § 387
      2. From transactions with principal or use of position
      3. Agent not allowed to make profits through his position as A:P
4. If the servant takes advantage of his service and violates his duty of honesty and good faith to make a profit for himself, he is accountable for it to his master

   a. If assets which he controls, the facilities which he enjoys, or the position which he occupies because of the agency relationship are the predominant cause of him obtaining the money

      i. Distinguish from cases where the service merely gives the opportunity of making money

5. If servant takes advantage of his service and violates his duty of honesty and good faith to make a profit for himself, in the sense that the assets of which he has control, the facilities which he enjoys, or the position which he occupies, are the real cause of his obtaining the money as distinct from merely affording the opportunity for getting it

v. Usurping business opportunities from principal

   1. Failing to disclose competing business venture

   2. Throughout the duration of an agency relationship, an agent has a duty to refrain from competing with the principal and from taking action on behalf of or otherwise assisting the principal's competitors

vi. Disclosure

   1. Conflict? First thing fiduciary must do is disclose!

   2. Conduct by an agent that would otherwise constitute a breach of duty … does not constitute a breach of duty if the principal consents to the conduct, provided that

      a. Obtains consent

         i. Good faith

         ii. Discloses all material facts that knows/reason to know/should know unless P manifested knowing these

      b. Otherwise deals fairly with P vii. Grabbing and leaving

1. Even where a business owner does not operate under the banner of his former employer, he still may not solicit the latter’s customers who are not openly engaged in business in advertised location whose availability as patrons cannot be readily ascertained…

   a. Unless otherwise agreed, after the termination of the agency, the agent … has a duty to the principal not to use … written lists of names … given to him only for the principal’s use …. [BUT] The agent is entitled to use … the names of the customers retained in his memory

2. Even though the defendant did not solicit plaintiff’s customers until they were out of the plaintiff’s employ, they only solicited to these customers…

   a. Would be different if these customers had been equally available to both parties, but these customers were screened at considerable effort and expense, without which their receptivity and willingness to do business would not have been known

3. So here the standard is that the List of names is protected depending on type of client – are they openly engaged in business in advertised locations as opposed to those whose trade and patronage have been secured through years of business effort.

4. Key fact: trade secret status of the customer list – trade secret as default rule viii. Miscellaneous

1. Duty to obey the P’s reasonable instructions for carrying out the agency business

2. Generally no duty to obey orders to behave illegally or unethically

3. Notify - agent must promptly tell the principal of anything within the agent’s knowledge:

   a. Reasonably relevant or material to the agency business; or

   b. That should concern the principal 6. Duties of Principal to his Agents

   a. Compensate the agent

      i. Agency contract generally controls the compensation the agent is to receive

         1. BUT if no contract provision, a principal is not required to pay for:

            a. Undertakings that she did not request
            b. Services to which she did not consent
            c. Tasks typically undertaken without pay

      ii. Reimburse the agent for money spent in the principal’s service

      iii. Indemnify the agent for losses suffered in conducting the principal’s business

7. The Principal-Agent “Problem” – Agency Costs

   a. Sum of three sets of costs incurred to prevent shirking:

      i. Monitoring expenditures by P + Bonding expenditures by A + Residual loss (shirking)

   b. Shirking = any action by a member of a production team that diverges from the interests of the team as a whole…e.g., agents have preferences of their own…

      i. Culpable of cheating…and negligence oversight, incapacity, honest mistakes

      ii. Inevitable consequence of bounded rationality and opportunism within agency relationships

   c. The principal reaps part of the value of hard work by the agent, but the agent receives all of the value of shirking

      i. Agent’s productive value to the principal, but agent gets non-pecuniary benefits of shirking

      1. Necessary to keep agent in line with the objectives of the principal via incentives

8. Terminating Agency Relationship

   By agreement of parties (K states end) By operation of law (death = automatic)

   Agency at will – by any party after notice Fulfillment of purpose (task completed)

   Renunciation – A notifies P they quit Revocation – P revoked A’s authority to act § 2 – Uniform Partnership Act (1914)

Business – every trade, occupation or profession Person – individuals, partnerships, corporations, and other associations Bankrupt – bankrupt under Federal or insolvent under state Conveyance – every assignment, lease, mortgage, or encumbrance Real Property – land and any interest in estate or land

§ 3 – Uniform Partnership Act (1914)

Person has knowledge of a fact not only when he has actual knowledge but also when he has knowledge of such other facts as in circumstances shows bad faith

Person has notice of a fact when the person who claims benefit of the notice States the fact to such person OR Delivers through means of communication, a written statement of the fact to such person or proper person at his place of business or residence

1. Generally
   a. Partnership – Have two or more persons associated together to carry on as co-owners as a business for profit
      i. BUT any associate formed under another statute is not a partnership unless such association would have been a partnership in this state prior to the adaptation of this act 1. BUT act shall apply to LPs except in so far as the statutes relating to such partnerships are inconsistent with UPA

   b. You can stumble into it!!!
      i. NOT THE SAME AS A JOINT VENTURE – limited to specific activity

   c. Each partner deemed to be agent [therefore fiduciary] of the other
      i. There may be imputation of liability
d. Partnership as Legal Entity – an organization having a legal existence separate from that of its members; the RUPA considers a partnership a legal entity for nearly all purposes

i. Sue and be sued

ii. Have judgments collected against it’s assets, and individual partners’ assets

iii. Own and convey partnership property

iv. Keep its own books

v. File its own federal/state tax returns

e. Partnership as Legal Aggregate – a group of individuals not having a legal existence separate from that of its members; the RUPA considers a partnership a legal aggregate for few purposes

i. Partnership pays no federal income tax

ii. Joint and several liability of partners 2. Formation

a. No formalities required . . . formed by:
   i. Agreement of partners AND
   ii. Compliance with requirements of contract law

b. Duration
   i. Term
   ii. At will

c. Capacity – partners must have legal capacity

d. Partnership agreements can be oral unless Statute of Frauds requires a written agreement
   i. Practically speaking, agreements should be in writing

e. Two types of partners
   i. General Partners – 1+ 1. Manage partnership and have unlimited liability
      2. Usually charged with operation and day-to-day management of the partnership's affairs and business, takes on personal liability for the obligations and debts of the partnership and the actions of the other partners.
   ii. Limited Partners – 1+ 1. No liability for partnership debts beyond capital contributions and investments in partnership
a. Shielded from such liability and traditionally is not as involved in the day-to-day affairs of the limited partnership

f. Elements

i. Intention of the parties

1. The agreement itself is evidential, although not conclusive of intention a. Need not be written

2. The testimony and conduct of the parties may be more indicative

ii. Right to share in profits

1. Not every agreement that gives the right to share in profits is a partnership agreement

2. This point is not conclusive
   a. “The receipt by a person of a share of the profits of a business is prima facie evidence that he is a partner in the business.”

   i. Shifts burden of proof!

3. A person who receives a share of the profits of a business is presumed to be a partner in the business, unless § 7 exceptions

iii. Obligation to share in losses

iv. Ownership and control of the partnership property and business

1. UPA Section 18 – the rights and duties of the partners in regulation to the partnership shall be determined, subject to any agreement between them, by the following rules…al partners have equal rights in the management and conduct of the partnership business

v. Communication power in administration and the reservation in the agreement of exclusive control of the management of the business

1. Meaningful control and management

vi. Language of the agreement

1. Partnership agreement can be oral or written – no formalities required…

vii. Conduct of parties towards third persons

1. Do the parties hold themselves out to customers/suppliers/governmental tax agencies as a partnership?

2. Trade name of the business registered as a partnership? viii. Rights of the parties on dissolution

1. UPA 31 – dissolution is caused: (1) without violation of the agreement between the partners by express will of any partner when no definite term or particular undertaking is specified

2. UPA 18 – each partner shall be repaid contributions…and share equally in the profits, surplus

g. Partnership By Estoppel

i. Plaintiff must establish a representation (express/implied) that one person is the partner of another—

1. i.e., that there was a holding out of a partnership

ii. The making of the representation by the person sought to be charged as a partner or with his consent

iii. A reasonable reliance in good faith by the third party upon the representation

iv. A change of position, with consequent injury, by the third person in reliance on the representation 3. Governance

   a. Partnership Agreement

      i. Governing rules of the partnership

         1. Where it’s silent, R/UPA governs

      ii. BUT may not contract around RUPA § 103 provisions:

         1. May not unreasonably restrict right of access to books and records

         2. Eliminate duty of loyalty but

             a. Can ID specific types or categories of activities that do not violate provided not manifestly unreasonable

             b. All partners or number or % specified may authorize or ratify, after full disclosure of all material facts, specific act or transaction

         3. Eliminate duty of good faith and fair dealing but

             a. But may prescribe standard by which performance is measured, not manifestly unreasonably

         4. Disassociate partner under § 602(a) except to require notice under § 601(1) in writing
5. Vary right of court to expel partner under § 601(5) requirements
6. Vary requirement to wind up in cases specified in § 801(4), (5), or (6) 7. Vary law applicable to LLP under 106(b) 8. Restrict rights of 3Ps under this act

b. Whether a provision that allows an interested partner to count its votes in the total required for ratification is “manifestly unreasonable”?

i. Ratification of an act is one way a partner can show good faith, fairness (no breach of duty)

ii. But interested partners SHOULD NOT be allowed to count their votes in a ratification

iii. Upon a showing of proper ratification by the partners, any claim against the partner for violation of the duty of loyalty is extinguished

iv. Examples

1. Here, majority approval was NOT achieved unless the votes of the affiliated/interested/conflicted partners were counted

v. The provision of the partnership agreement that allowed interested partners votes to be counted was INVALID as manifestly unreasonable

1. Note: for corporation – the statute mandates that conflicted actions be ratified in elections with the shares owned by the interested director or directors NOT being entitled to vote

2. The same rule applies for partnership…allowing an interested partner to participate in ratification election subverts the very purpose of the ratification itself

c. Partnership Management

i. Each of the partners expects to play a role in conducting the business of the partnership

ii. Right of each partner to participate in the operation of the business – implicit term of the partnership agreement

iii. UPA 18(e) – in the absence of an arrangement to the contrary, “all partners have equal rights in the management and conduct of the partnership business”

iv. UPA 18(h) – “any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the partnership business may be decided by a majority of the partners”

1. Thus, the majority can deprive the minority partner of the authority to act for the partnership
2. Any agreement the minority tries to enter would not be binding on the partnership

3. If there are only two partners, there can be no majority vote that will be effective to deprive either partner of authority to act for the partnership

4. Executive Committee
   a. Consensus vs. authority decision making
      i. Consensus – collective decision making 1. Used when constituents have similar interests, comparable information, low collective action problems
         2. Partnership is authorized for these characteristics ii. Authority – central decision making body
         1. Needed when constituents have differing interests, asymmetric information, serious collective action problem
         2. Corporation is optimized for these characteristics

5. Deadlock
   a. Partner cannot have apparent authority where the third party with whom the partner dealt knew that the partner has no actual authority to make the contract.
   b. Every partner is an agent of the partnership for the purpose of its business, and the act of every partner, including the execution in the partnership name of any instrument, for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership of which he is a member binds the partnership, unless the partner so acting has in fact no authority to act for the partnership in the particular matter, and the person with whom he is dealing has knowledge of the fact that he has no such authority
   c. As between the partners and some 3P: all partners = partnership agents
      i. Power to bind the partnership
   d. As between the partners: all partners have equal rights to participate in management of partnership
   e. Partners have equal rights to conduct the business of the firm
      i. Only a majority vote could have limited partner’s authority 1. In a 2 person partnership with equal votes, therefore, deadlock results
f. Any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the partnership business may be decided by a majority of the partners

   i. Here suit was brought by 3P seeking to hold partnership liable

g. Partnership matters are (absent an agreement to the contrary) decided by majority vote, this requires a majority vote

   i. Ex: S+D have equal stakes, S hires a third guy but D disagree. S went ahead and did it anyway → S loses: act in contravention of implied agreement

      1. Contract not binding because “a majority of the partners did not consent to the hiring of the third man”

         a. This was a case brought by one partner vs. the other

h. Between partners: an act involving the partnership business may not be compelled by the co-partner

   i. Even divide to matter re: partnership – power to exercise discretion on behalf of the partners suspended so long as the division continues Liability

i. Personal Liability - All partners are jointly and severally liable for everything chargeable to the partnership under UPA § 13 and § 14 – torts, breach of fiduciary responsibility

   1. AND jointly for other debts and obligations of the partnerships – contracts etc.

ii. Setting accounts after dissolution payment-rank:

   1. 3rd party creditors - those owing to creditors other than partners,

   2. Partner-made loans – those owing to partners other than for capital and profits

   3. Subordinates loans by partners to loans by 3P creditors

iii. In order for a partner’s tortious conduct to throw vicarious liability upon the partnership and her fellow partners, the partner must have been acting either in the ordinary course of partnership business or with authority from the partnership

   1. Instead, a plaintiff need only show that the partner’s overall course of conduct was of the type broadly authorized viii. Penalty Dilution

1. Partnership agreement might provide that of the managing partner determines that additional funds are needed, new points will be offered to the partners at a fixed price

ix. Another similar approach…

1. Requires partners to make loans to the partnership, pro rata, when called upon by the managing partner to do so…

2. Loans would bear interest…with no distributions to be made to the partners until the full amounts of the loan and interest are paid

3. Problem – specifying consequences of failure of a partner to comply with request for loan money 7. Fiduciary Duties

a. Corporate Opportunities Doctrine

e. Expulsion – Wrongful Dissolution

i. When a partner is involuntarily expelled from a business, his expulsion must have been bona fide or in good faith without violation of PA

ii. No Cause Clause ex: Where the remaining partners in a firm deem it necessary to expel a partner under a no cause expulsion clause in a partnership agreement freely negotiated and entered into, the expelling partners act in ‘good faith’ regardless of motivation if that act does not cause a wrongful withholding of money or property legally due the expelled partner at the time he is expelled

iii. If the power to involuntarily expel partners granted by a partnership agreement is exercised in bad faith or for a “predatory purpose”…the partnership agreement is violated

   1. Gives rise to an action for damages partner has suffered as a result of his expulsion

iv. No Predatory Purpose

   1. Ex: Permitted him to remain a partner while he sought treatment

      a. Proposal for severing Lawlis’s partnership did not recommend an immediate expulsion, but would allow him to remain a partner for 8 months while he looked for work, and allow him to remain insured

v. “For Cause” vs. Good Faith

   1. Under a no-cause expulsion provision in a freely negotiated partnership agreement…all that is needed is good faith, otherwise-court would be engrafting a for-cause requirement
8. Dissolution

a. Change in the relationship of partners caused by a partner ceasing to be associated in carrying on the firm’s business

   i. Not the same as going out of business

   ii. Always power to dissolve but not right to

   1. Subject to fiduciary duties!!!

b. Caused by express will of partner in partnership with no definite term BY:

   i. Act, operation of law, court-order

   ii. Express will of any partner when no definite term or particular undertaking is specified

   iii. Without violation of the agreement between the partners:

      1. Termination of the definite term or particular undertaking specified in the agreement

      2. Express will of any partner when no definite term or particular undertaking is specified

      3. Express will of all the partners who have not assigned their interests or suffered them to be charged for their separate debts, either before or after the termination of any specified term or particular undertaking, iv. Expulsion of any partner from the business bona fide in accordance with such power conferred by the agreement between the partners;

v. In contravention of the agreement between the partners, where the circumstances do not permit a dissolution under any other provision of this section, by the express will of any partner at any time;

vi. Any event which makes it unlawful for the business of the partnership to be carried on or for the members to carry it on in partnership

vii. Death of any partner viii. Bankruptcy of any partner or the partnership

ix. Decree of court under where partner’s conduct: (§ 32(1))

   2. Incapable of performing part of contract

   3. Prejudices the carrying on of the business or 4. Willfully and persistently breaches the agreement or

5. Conducts himself in such a way as to make it impractical to carry on

c. After dissolution, the partnership must be wound up, absent agreement among the partners to carry on the business
   i. Assuming that the business will not be continued, the winding up process generally contemplates that the firm’s assets will be distributed to the partners

d. Continuation – creates a new partnership [technically]
   i. If a new partner joins the firm when it continues new partner is also liable for the firm’s old debts, 1. BUT such liability can only be satisfied out of partnership property
         a. The new partner cannot be held personally liable for the old debts, unless he or she expressly agrees to be so held ii. Legal right to dissolution rests in equity, as does the right to relief from any legal contract

e. Departing partner entitled to “accounting” of:
   i. Fair value of partnership ii. Interest from date of dissolution in event of unreasonable failure to pay iii. Remains liable on all firm obligations unless released by creditor

f. Wrongful Dissolution
   i. Those partners who have not wrongfully dissolved business have a statutory right to continue the business ii. Unilateral withdrawal is one of most common means 1. Also: egregious breach of fiduciary

g. Term Partnership
   i. Cf. “term partnership” vs. “partnership at will”
      1. An at will partnership can be dissolved at any point without adverse consequences
      2. Subject to good faith / fiduciary duties (see PAGE v. PAGE)

   ii. Explicit term
      1. Duration specified in partnership agreement
      2. Specific purpose / objective specified in partnership agreement
iii. Implicit Term – fiduciary duty prevents P from walling back to dissolution and abusing situation

1. Court will look at whether the parties have identified a particular undertaking that is capable of accomplishment at some specific time even though the exact time may be unknown and even not ascertainable at the date of the agreement

2. Implied found - When partner loans money to the firm to be repaid from profits, an implied term is created that does not expire until the loan is repaid

   a. BUT Parties’ hope to repay start-up loan out of partnership profits not enough

h. Synthesize cases

<table> <thead>
<tr>
<th>A partner may not, however, by use of adverse pressure ‘freeze out’ a co-partner and appropriate the business to his own use. A partner may not dissolve a partnership to gain the benefits of the business for himself, unless he fully compensates his co-partner</th>
<th>Where the remaining partners in a firm deem it necessary to expel a partner under a no cause expulsion clause in a partnership agreement freely negotiated and entered into, the expelling partners act in ‘good faith’ regardless of motivation if that act does not cause a wrongful withholding of money or property legally due the expelled partner at the time he is expelled</th>

   2. The right, as against each partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, to damages for breach of the agreement
   3. The partners who have not caused the dissolution wrongfully, if they all desire to continue the business in the same name, either by themselves or jointly with others, may do so,
   4. The innocent partners also have the option to continue the business in the firm name provided that they pay the partner causing the dissolution the value of his interest in the partnership
      a. The partner who caused the wrongful dissolution gets the value of his interest, minus any damages caused by his dissolution
      b. When calculating the value – “goodwill” of the business is excluded
         i. Goodwill – an intangible asset made up of the prestige which a business has acquired beyond the mere value of what it sells

b. Federal corporate law
   i. Where public corporations are concerned – federal law is more important ii. Dual regulatory scheme – federal securities law and state corporate law

c. State law is concerned with the substance of corporate governance, while federal law is concerned with disclosure and limited number of procedural aspects of corporate governance § 2.01 – Incorporators

One or more persons may act as the incorporator or incorporators of a corporation by delivering articles of incorporation to the secretary of state for filing.

Name and address of each incorporator

§ 2.03 – Incorporation

§ 2.04 – Liability for Pre-Incorporation Transactions

All persons purporting to act as or on behalf of corporation, knowing there was no incorporation, are jointly and severally liable for all liabilities created while so acting.

AOI Names Directors– meet, appoint officers, adopt bylaws, and carrying on other stuff ✓

AOI NOT NAMED – meeting to elect directors, complete organization OR elect BOD ✓

Meeting required/permitted to be taken by incorporators may be taken without meeting if action taken is evidenced by 1 or more written consents and signed by each incorporator (in/out state ok)

§ 2.06 – Bylaws

All incorporators or BOD adopt initial bylaws for corporation

Bylaws may contain any provision not inconsistent with laws re: AOI

May contain either/both: proxy statement; corporation reimburse shareholder for proxy-expense

If SH amend bylaws: may not limit BOD’s authority to amend/repeal any condition to bylaw in order to provide for reasonable, practicable and orderly process
5. Pre-Incorporation– Liability

   a. Once articles filed

      i. Corporation to 3P Contract: YES: NOT AUTOMATIC \(\rightarrow\) novation/adopt

         1. Expressly or implicit (ratification by acceptance of benefits)

      ii. Promoter is liable if Corporation breaches:

         1. YES \(\rightarrow\) MBCA § 2.04 UNLESS

            a. Released by the 3P or novation which is very express

   b. No Articles Filed/Defective Incorporation

      i. Promoter is liable on contract

         1. Absent agreement to contrary  \[\text{MBCA § 2.04}\]

            a. Novation

            b. Let promoter go

      ii. Defectively formed entities or individuals

         1. 3P who dealt with the firm as though it were a corporation and relied on the firm, not the individual \(\Delta\), for performance is ESTOPPED from denying the existence

         2. De Facto Corporation

            a. In good faith tried to incorporate

            b. Had a legal right to do so

            c. Acted as corporation

         3. Corporation by Estoppel – treat firm as though it were corporation if person dealing with firm

            a. Thought it was corporation all along

            b. Would earn windfall if now allowed to argue that the firm was not a corporation

            c. NO GOOD FAITH EFFORT - kicks in when 3P gets windfall 6. Corporate Liability

   a. Not improper to

      i. Incorporate business for express purpose of avoiding personal liability

      ii. Split a single business enterprise into multiple corporations so as to limit the liability exposure of each part of the business

   b. Corporate Veil

      i. Where shareholder uses control of corporation to further his own, rather than corporation’s business, he will be liable for corporation’s acts and debts on a Principal/Agent Theory

      ii. Alter Ego – basically person has the shield of corporate liability but corporation and individual are basically the same entity

      iii. TEST: Piercing Corporate Veil [avoid: follow formalities] CA laundry*

         1. Corporation was controlling shareholder’s alter ego:

            a. Commingling of funds

            b. Undercapitalization

            c. Disregard for corporate formalities:

               i. Failure to hold shareholder meetings

               ii. Failure to hold board meetings

               iii. Failure to keep minutes of said meetings

               iv. Failure to keep separate books

               v. Failure to issue stock

               vi. Failure to appoint a board

               vii. Failure to adopt charter or by-laws

            AND

         2. Adherence to limited liability would sanction a fraud or promote injustice (Marsh – measures length of Chancellor’s foot)

   c. Enterprise Liability (Going after multiple corporations)

      i. Reconnect separate businesses and make them one large enterprise – like multiple cab companies

      ii. Only larger corporate entity would be held financially responsible

      iii. π burden of proof (avoid following + careful accounting for supplies etc.)

         1. Δ did not respect separate identities of corporations

            a. Separate bank accounts

            b. Who hires and trains: individually or people don’t really know which ones

45
1. Shareholders (corporation primarily for SH profits)
   a. Own company
   b. Participate in profits of enterprise
   c. Limited involvement in company’s affairs

2. Board of Directors (elected by SHs but AOI or Bylaws may prescribe qualifications)
   a. MBCA § 6.40 – BOD may authorize and corporation make distributions to SH
   b. DGCL § 141(a) – Business/affairs of every corporation shall be managed by or under direction of BOD except as otherwise provided in chapter or AOI
      i. DGCL § 141(b) “The board of directors of a corporation shall consist of 1 or more members, each of whom shall be a natural person.
         1. Number of directors shall be fixed by, or in the manner provided in, the bylaws, unless the certificate of incorporation fixes the number of directors, in which case a change in the number of directors shall be made only by amendment of the certificate
         2. Directors need not be stockholders unless so required by the certificate of incorporation or the bylaws . . . . note DGCL § 141(c) limits!!
   c. Individual directors NOT agents: Only board whole = agent and bind corporation
   d. Oversight, Select, evaluate, replace senior management

§ 8.30 – Conduct Standards

Good faith + manner reasonably believes in best interest of corporation

Disclose material info not already known to board unless violates other duty under law

D w/o knowledge that makes reliance unwarranted is entitled to rely on performance by any of persons in (f)(1)/(3) whom BOD may have delegated, in/formally, the authority to perform 1+ board’s functions:

Reliable officers with competency in functions performed; Legal counsel, CPAs, or others retained by corp. (within expert competence or merits confidence); Committee of BOD of which D is not a member if director reasonably believes committee merits confidence
e. Absent abuse, court does not second guess or alter way in which dividend policy is set

   i. Directors have power to declare dividends and their value

      1. Courts interfere only where fraud, misappropriation, or where surplus of money that can be issued as dividend without harming business

         a. Where refusal is almost fraud and breach of good faith to shareholder (Dodge v. Ford)

f. Officers/Management (appointed by board)

   i. Act as agents for corporation ii. Have fiduciary duties

g. Employees
1. Fiduciary Duties [generally] – directors and officers = fiduciaries of corporation

a. Duty of Care

i. Directors/officers are expected to act in good faith and the best interests of corporation

ii. Duty of care to shareholders

iii. Failure to exercise due care may mean individual directors or officers are personally liable

b. Duty of loyalty – subordination: personal interests to corporate welfare

i. No competition with corporation ii. No taking corporate opportunity

iii. No conflict of interests iv. No insider trading

v. No transaction that is detrimental to minority shareholders

2. Standards of Liability . . . § 8.31 basically = BJR (gets you in trouble)

3. Business Judgment Rule: Overview

a. Standard of liability

i. No liability for negligence ii. Liability based on:

   1. Fraud, Illegal conduct, Self-dealing

b. Abstention doctrine

   i. Court will not review BOD decision ii. Preconditions: No fraud, illegality, self-dealing

c. Inherent tension between:

   i. Need to preserve BOD’s decision-making discretion AND

ii. Need to hold BOD accountable for its decisions 4. Business Judgment Rule

a. Absent a showing of fraud, illegality, or conflict of interest, the court must abstain from reviewing the director’s decision

i. Directors are entitled to exercise their honest business judgment on information before them and to act within their corporate powers

1. Courts must defer to the board of director’s judgment absent highly unusual circumstances

   a. Mere errors of judgment are not sufficient as grounds for equity interference – largely discretionary to directors

b. Did directors reach an informed business judgment

   i. If they did not, were their actions taken subsequent to that date adequate to cure any infirmity in their action taken on that date

c. Presumption: making business decision, directors acted on informed basis, in good faith, and in honest belief that action was taken in best interest of company

   [Rebuttable: breached duty: care/loyalty/bad faith]

   i. Attacking board decision as uninformed \(\implies\) MUST rebut presumption

   1. Informed – have directors informed themselves prior to making a business decision, of all material information reasonably available to them \((\text{Brehm} - \text{reasonable reach})\)

   2. NO protection: unintelligent and unadvised judgment

      a. Unavailable: failed to inform themselves of all material info reasonably available to them \((\text{Smith v. Van Gorkom})\)

      b. BUT: Full protection in relying in good faith on reports made by officers

   3. Gross Negligence [by failing to inform themselves] = Standard for determining BJR reached by Board of Directors

      ii. Rebuttable if breached duty of care, loyalty or acted in bad faith

d. Informed Decision – all information readily available to them – what a reasonable shareholder would consider important in deciding whether to approve decision

   i. Time pressures – boards that have failed to exercise due care are frequently boards that have been rushed . . . but quick decisions can be made

   ii. Negotiations – need a little pain on both sides / evidence of testing boundaries
iii. Duty of Inquiry – [no blind reliance] + continuing duty: remain informed

1. Reports (defense) = informal personal investigation by officers – must be pertinent to subject matter upon which board is called to act and otherwise be entitled to good faith, not blind, reliance

2. Valuation study

3. Discussion: course of negotiations

4. Review an actual contract

iv. Consultations [get onboard] early with senior management

v. Setting the price – must focus on one primary objective – to secure transaction offering at best value reasonably available for all stockholders

vi. Market valuation vs. intrinsic value

vii. Control premium – market for corporate control – i.e., buying all the shares of a company’s stock

1. Market: $38 but buyout pays $55 viii. Suspicions aroused?

1. Absolve of liability – informing directors of impropriety and voting for proper course of action

   a. Conversely – may be liable to corporation for benefit of its creditors or shareholders to extent of any injuries suffered by such persons

2. So:

   a. Inquire into doubtful matters

   b. Object to apparently illegal or questionable behavior

   c. Resign if corrections NOT made

ix. Good faith and with degree of diligence, care, and skill which ordinary prudent men would exercise under similar circumstances and in like positions

1. Owe degree of care that businessmen of ordinary prudence would exercise in management of his own affairs

   a. Should acquire at least a rudimentary understanding of corporation’s business/similar with fundamentals of business

x. Cannot set up ∆: lack knowledge needed to exercise requisite care

1. If unfamiliar: acquire knowledge by inquiry or refuse to act
5. Preconditions – directors get BJR defense = GOOD FAITH + INHERENT FAIRNESS

a. Exercise of Judgment

i. Directors actually exercised business judgment

ii. No protection: no decision made Vs. decision refrain from action [inaction subject to review]

b. Disinterest and independent decision makers

i. Business judgment rule presupposes that directors have no conflict of interest

1. Self-dealing one of classic triad of ways in which the rules presumptions are rebutted

2. “A director is [self] interested if he will be materially affected, either to his benefit or detriment, by a decision of the board, in a manner not shared by the corporation and the shareholders”

   a. Also interest by virtue of indirect connections (e.g., spousal)

ii. Director must also be independent

1. Independent if he can base his decision ‘on the corporate merits of the subject before the board rather than extraneous considerations or influences

2. Note: where the board has acted collectively, it is not enough to show that a single director was interested of or lacked independence

   a. Business judgment rule will insulate the board unless the plaintiff can show a majority of the board was interested and/or lacked dependence

c. Absence: Fraud/Illegality

i. Key issue: whether the board has a duty to act lawfully

ii. Illegality of a board decision should not deprive the directors of the protection of the business judgment rule

1. Allowing shareholder derivative suits is not a deterrent for corporate crime

2. Windfall to the plaintiff bar, and not the nominal shareholders

d. Rationality
6. Reconcile: Duty of Care and BJR

   a. Substantive Standard vs. Abstention

      i. Abstention - Creates a presumption against judicial review of duty of care claims

      1. Courts abstain from reviewing the substantive merits of the director’s conduct unless the plaintiff can rebut the business judgment rule by showing one or more preconditions are lacking

   b. DOC: don’t be negligence vs. BJR: insulates negligence liability

      i. BJR raises bar from mere negligence to say, gross negligence or recklessness

7. DGCL § 141(e)

   a. BOD member or member of any committee designated by the BOD, shall, in the performance of such member's duties, be

      i. Fully protected in relying in good faith upon

      1. Records of the corporation and upon such information, opinions, reports or statements presented to the corporation by any of the corporation's officers or employees, or committees of the board of directors, or by any other person as to matters

         a. Member reasonably believes are within such other person's professional or expert competence and who has been selected with reasonable care by or on behalf of the corporation

8. Principal-Agent Theory

   a. Goals of principals and agents may conflict

      i. Difficulty or expensive for principal to verify what agent is actually doing

      1. Hard for board of directors to confirm that managers are actually acting in shareholders interests

      2. Managers may opportunistically pursue their own interests

   b. Principal and agent may have different attitudes and reference toward risk Corporations
Business Judgment Rule: Board Process & Good Faith

1. Obligation of Good Faith [somewhat independent basis of liability but triad too]
   a. Good faith acting directors get indemnification for legal fees §145
      i. Only directors who rely in good faith on corporate books and records or reports from corporate officers or certain advisors are “fully protected” against shareholder claims §145(e)
   b. Related party transactions are partially insulated from judicial review only if they are approved by disinterested directors or shareholders in good faith
   c. Courts recognize longstanding notion:
      i. Conduct motivated by subjective bad faith ii. Intentional dereliction of duty, conscious disregard for one’s responsibilities iii. But gross negligence does NOT equal bad faith
   d. De Facto Officer – one who actually assumes possession of office under claim and color of election or appointment and who is actually discharging duties of that officer, but for some legal reason lacks de jure legal title to that office
   e. Process – due care and affirmative inquiry
      i. Grossly negligent in failing to inform of all material information reasonably available to it

2. Three categories: fiduciary behaviors might = “bad faith” BUT gross negligence cannot without more = bad faith (missing intent)
   a. Subjective bad faith – fiduciary conduct motivated by actual intent to do harm
   b. Lack of due care - fiduciary actions taken solely reason of gross negligence and without any malevolent intent
      i. Sharp distinction: exercise due care vs. no bad faith
   c. Intentional dereliction of duty – a conscious disregard for one’s responsibilities
      i. Intentionally acts with purpose other than advancing best interests of corporation ii. Intent to violate applicable positive law iii. Intentionally fails to act in face of known duty to act: conscious disregard iv. Functional equivalent of waste 3. Defense – DGCL § 141(e)

a. BOD member or member of any committee designated by the BOD, shall, in the performance of such member's duties, be

   i. Fully protected in relying in good faith upon

      1. Records of the corporation and upon such information, opinions, reports or statements presented to the corporation by any of the corporation's officers or employees, or committees of the board of directors, or by any other person as to matters

         a. Member reasonably believes are within such other person's professional or expert competence and who has been selected with reasonable care by or on behalf of the corporation

b. Pre-Condition: duty of inquiry

4. Waste Claim [irrationally throwing away money: marble bank]

a. Transaction “that is so one sided that no business person of ordinary, sound judgment could conclude that the corporation has received adequate consideration”

b. Absent irrationality, compensation is a matter of BJ and court will not review

c. π who fails to rebut the BJR presumptions is not entitled to any remedy unless that transaction constitutes waste

d. π burden of proof: exchange so one sided that no business person of ordinary, sound judgment could conclude that the corporation has received adequate consideration

e. Claim of waste will ONLY arise in rare unconscionable cases

   i. Irrationally squander or give away corporate assets

f. Best Practices seen in compensation

   i. Spreadsheet or similar document with help or prepared by compensation expert

   ii. Spreadsheet would disclose amounts that each officer would receive under employment agreement

   iii. Spreadsheet would be explained to committee members – expert who prepared or committee member similarly knowledgeable about subject

   iv. Spreadsheet would form the basis of the committee’s deliberations and decision

   v. Spreadsheet would ultimately become an exhibit to minutes of compensation committee meeting 5. Good Faith seen in Oversight (NOT INDEPENDENT COA) within DOL

a. Lack of good faith is necessary condition to liability

b. Monitoring management – one of the 3 principle functions of BOD

c. BJR rarely insulates BOD from liability in connection w/ this fx

   i. BJR applies only where BOD exercised business judgment (affirmative decision making)

      1. Most oversight cases arise because the board has FAILED to act

d. Absent cause for suspicion – NO duty to install and operate system of espionage to ferret out wrongdoing which they have no reason to suspect exists

   i. Absent grounds to suspect deception, neither boards nor senior officers can be charged with wrongdoing simply for assuming the integrity of employees and the honesty of their dealings of their company’s behalf

e. Standard of liability where directors are unaware of employee misconduct that results in corporation being held liable

   i. Sustained or systematic failure of BOD to exercise oversight will establish lack of good faith that is a necessary condition to liability

f. Conditions for Liability – BJR: good faith + rational process

   i. Directors knew they were not discharging fiduciary obligations AND

      1. Directors utterly failed to implement any reporting or information system or control OR

         a. Having implemented system/control

      2. Consciously failed to monitor/oversee operations thus disabling themselves from being informed of risks or problems requiring attention

   ii. Directors are entitled to rely on the honesty of their subordinates until something occurs to put them on notice that illegal conduct is taking place

      1. Notice and then fail to act or if they recklessly place their confidence in an obviously untrustworthy employee = Liability

   iii. Note: Red Flags

      1. When to investigate

      2. When should BOD be informed

      3. When does BOD conduct inquiry 6. Compliance Programs

   a. Directors are entitled to rely on the honesty of their subordinates until something occurs to put them on notice that illegal conduct is taking place

   b. If they are put on notice and then fail to act, or if they recklessly repose confidence in an obviously untrustworthy employee, liability may follow

   c. Policy manual
   d. Training employees
   e. Compliance audits
   f. Sanctions for violation
   g. Provisions for self-reporting of violations to regulators

7. Key Compliance Steps

   a. Clearly identify who will oversee the investigation

   b. Determine if independent outside advisers should be hired or if existing outside advisers can be used

   c. Establish the scope of the investigation, but be prepared to expand the investigation as necessary

   d. Ensure that investigators behave legally and ethically

   e. Determine appropriate form of report and if it should be passed on to regulators and prosecutors

8. Roadmap for a New Director

1. Indemnification

a. Liability Limitation Statutes

i. Only Directors/Not Officers - DGCL § 102(b)(7) - corporation’s articles of incorporation may (but need not) include:

1. Provided that such provision shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a director:

   a. Breach director’s duty of loyalty to the Corp/Shareholders

   b. Not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law

   c. For act relating to liability for unlawful dividends

   d. For any transaction from which director derived improper personal benefit (self-dealing)

ii. Exculpates

1. No exercise of business judgment – yes

2. Waste – yes

3. Uninformed decision – yes (Disney)

4. Fraud – if known, no (because intent/scienter)

5. Conflict of interest – no (breach DOL)

6. Illegality – no (knowing violation of law)

7. Bad faith – no

iii. Noteworthy

1. Applies only to directors…

   a. Although officers are also subject to a duty of care, they are denied exculpation by this provision

2. Limits only monetary liability of directors

3. Equitable remedies are still available – and, since attorney’s fees may be recovered, the incentive to bring litigation remains

4. Affirmative defense
5. Defendant directors have burden of proving they are entitled to exculpation under statute

6. Harder to 12(b)(6) π’s complaint for failing to state a cause of action

7. πs more likely discovery – drives up settlement value of claims up

8. Distinguishes between self-dealing and duty of care

9. πs can avoid 102(b)(7) by characterizing claims as a loyalty violation Indemnification Statutes - § 145(a), (b), (e) and (f) must be written into the AoI, § 145(c) is mandatory . . . DGCL § 145 – all indemnification must be consistent with § (broader ok)

9. Distinguishes: direct and derivative suits against a D/O:

a. § 145(a) – authorizes the corporation to indemnify the director or officer who acted in good faith/not opposed to best interest for expenses plus

i. Judgments, fines, and amounts paid in settlement of both civil and criminal proceedings

ii. 145(a) covers direct suits by shareholders or 3d parties suing in their own name

iii. If implemented in the AOI a board member can get reimbursed for expenses, AND judgments, fines, settlements.

iv. If necessary the Director pays the 3P and Company reimburses the Director

b. § 145(b) – Only for expense, including attorney’s fees

i. Derivative litigation – authorizes indemnification

ii. If the person acted in good faith and in a manner the person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation”

iii. If the director or officer was held liable to the corporation, he may only be indemnified with court approval 10. Distinguishes: mandatory and permissive indemnification

   i. § 145(c) – a corporation must indemnify a director or officer who “has been successful on the merits or otherwise

      1. Merits – went to trial and won or otherwise – settlement

         a. Note: only escape not moral exoneration

         b. Unsuccessful? Check § 145(a) or (b)

            i. Permissive so long as it’s not precluded by statute

   2. It is a mandatory not permissive provision

      a. When Director or officer is successful on merits in suits referred to in A or B, they must be indemnified for their expenses, but expenses only

   3. Why omit a good-faith exception in 145(c)?

      a. Intended to avoid collateral litigation – no need for further litigation were director succeeds on merits but in a way that does not resolve his issue of good faith

      b. Intended to permit indemnification for those who acted in bad faith, but who nonetheless prevail…does not chill directors from taking risks

      c. Encourage people to serve as directors of corporations in Delaware (encouraging Delaware incorporation) by providing maximum protection

11. Advancement of Expenses

   a. § 145(e) – corporation may advance expenses to the officer or director provided the latter undertakes to repay such amount if it turns out that he is not entitled to indemnification

12. Further Indemnification through AoI (note: no new powers)

   a. § 145(f) – may enter into written indemnification agreements beyond statute

      i. Statute authorizes indemnification agreements mandating payments that the statute permits (i.e., permissive)

      ii. Authorizes indemnification agreements mandating payment of expenses that the statute merely permits

         1. Also allows indemnification of certain expenses not contemplated by statute

      iii. CANNOT bypass good faith 1. Competing Policy Concerns

   a. Derivative – mechanism of managerial accountability

      i. Potential for bias

         1. Directors cannot be expected to sue themselves

   b. Cause of action belongs to corporation

   c. Shareholder may have interests diverse from those of corporation

      i. Shareholders lawyer often real party in interest

   d. Therefore BOD should have some say

      b. But – individual recovery possible where equitable in circumstances and adequate provision has been made for creditors or corporation

      c. Avoid board of directors from benefitting from an award to the corporation

3. Who should recover?

a. In the case of individual recovery, the amount awarded is pro rata based on share ownership ratios. So plaintiffs do not get a piece of the defendants’ share.

   b. Plaintiff Incentives

      i. Any recovery goes to corporate treasury, whether by settlement or trial victor

      ii. Lawyer is real party in interest

      1. Lawyer can get contingent fee out of any recovery

      2. BUT corporation also must pay plaintiff’s legal fees if there is a substantial non-monetary benefit

      a. Courts quite liberal in finding such benefit

   c.  Defendant Incentives

      i. Strike suits – settle to go away

      ii. Meritorious suits against insider defendants:

      iii. Indemnification: Corporation must reimburse director’s expenses if successful defense

      iv. Settlement in which director doesn’t pay anything deemed a success 4. Plaintiff Qualifications

   a. MBCA § 7.41 limits standing to shareholders, Creditors may not bring derivative suit

   b. MBCA § 7.41(1): Must be a shareholder at the time of the alleged wrongdoing

   c. MBCA § 7.42: Must be a shareholder when suit commenced,

   d. Many states say also must remain a shareholder through final judgment

   e. MBCA § 7.41(2): Named plaintiff must be a fair and adequate representative of the corporation’s interest

5. Strike Suits

   a. Non-meritorious actions brought by people who might be interested in getting quick dollars by making charges without regard to their truth, so as to coerce corporate managers to settle worthless claims

      i. Real party in interest is the plaintiff’s attorneys

   b. Recognized that shareholders would not bring derivative suits if they were obligated to bear the legal costs of suit in all cases

      i. Both federal and state law provide for payment of the π’s legal fees in derivative action

      ii. Note: usual rule – each party pays its own legal fees + other expenses

   c. Derivative context, corporation may be ordered to pay the plaintiff-shareholders fees and expenses if the litigation results in a monetary recovery or confers a substantial nonmonetary benefit on the corporation

6. Problems re Derivative Litigation

   a. Creates incentive for π’s attorneys to bring non-meritorious claims…at the same time

      i. Encourages plaintiff’s attorneys and managerial Δ to collusively settle meritorious cases

   b. Because a manager who is dismissed from the litigation, for whatever reason, without having to make a monetary payment is deemed to have succeeded

      i. Individual defendant faces no risks because corporation will indemnify and reimburse costs 7. Demand Requirement (if excused $\Rightarrow \pi$ can go forward with suit)

   a. There is a critical pre-requisite to the filing of a derivative lawsuit in the name of a corporation by a shareholder: namely, the requirement that the shareholder first file a demand with the corporation that it pursue the claim itself

   b. Demand is required UNLESS it would be futile [FRCP 23.1- demand requirement]

      i. Note: refusing demand is protected by BJR!

      ii. Reasonable doubt as to whether BJR applied to decision to refuse demand

   c. Demand- typically a letter from shareholder to BOD

      i. Request: BOD bring suit on alleged cause of action

      ii. Specific to apprise board on nature of cause of action to evaluate its merits

      iii. Minimum- must identify alleged wrongdoers, describe factual basis of wrongful acts, the harm caused to corporation and request relief 8. Is Demand Futile?

a. Delaware (Grimes) stockholder filing derivative suit must allege that i. Board rejected his pre-suit demand OR Alleged w/particularity (pre-discovery using tools at hand) creating a reasonable doubt that the board is capable of making good faith decision on suit

1. Majority of board has material, financial or familial interest OR
2. Majority of board lacks independence (domination or control) OR 3. Challenged transaction is not a product of valid exercise of BJ (Illegal, irrational)

b. New York (Marx) – Basis excusing demand . . . alleges with particularity:

i. Majority of directors interested in challenged transaction OR

ii. Directors failed to inform themselves to degree reasonably appropriate OR

iii. Challenged transaction was so egregious on its face that it could not have been the product of sound business judgment of the directors

c. Note: Where no BJ made (oversight), court must determine whether/not particularized factual allegations of complaint create a RD as of the time the complaint is filed . . . BOD could have properly exercised its independent & disinterested BJ in responding

9. Special Litigation Committee – Did BOD Employ One?

a. When individual members of BOD prove to have personal interests which my conflict with the interests of the corporation such interested directors must be excluded while the remaining members of the board proceed to consideration and action

i. Burden on SLC to establish its own independence by a yardstick that must be “like Caesar’s wife”

b. SLC could be broken down into two parts:

i. The selection of procedures appropriate to the pursuit of its charge.

1. The courts are well equipped by long and continuing experience and practice to make these determinations.

ii. The ultimate substantive decision.

1. These decisions, however, fall squarely within the business judgment doctrine and are thus outside the scope of review
c. Key legal issue: whether court should defer to a SLC recommendation that suit be dismissed

d. BJR does not foreclose inquiry by court into disinterested independence of those members of Board chose to make corporate decision on its behalf

   i. Rule shields deliberation and conclusion of chosen reps of board ONLY IF they possess:

      1. Disinterested independence and

      2. Do not stand in dual relation which prevents an prejudicial exercise of judgment

   ii. While court may properly inquire as to adequacy and appropriateness of committee’s investigative procedures and methodologies, it may not under guise of consideration of such factors trespass in domain of business judgment

e. How Much Deference Should A Court Afford the SLC Recommendation to Dismiss the Suit?  Independent + Disinterested + Conducted GF/R Investigation

   i. Step 1:

      1. Inquiry into the independence and good faith of the committee

      2. Inquire into the bases supporting the committee’s recommendations

         a. Must be good faith and reasonable - BJR ii. Step 2:

      1. Court may go on to apply its own business judgment as to whether the case is to be dismissed

         a. Allows meritorious suits to go forward

         b. Accounts for structural bias problem

   iii. BOP: C – independence, good faith, and a reasonable investigation

f. Zapata Two-Step: If a committee, composed of independent and disinterested directors, conducted a proper review of the matter before it, considered a variety of factors and reached, in good faith, a business judgment that the action was not in the best interest of the corporation, the action must be dismissed.

   i. The final substantive judgment whether a particular lawsuit should be maintained requires a balance of many factors – ethical, commercial, promotional, public relations, employee relations, fiscal as well as legal.

   ii. The motion should include a thorough written record of the investigation and its findings and recommendations
g. Board decision to cause derivative suit to be dismissed as detrimental to the company, after demand has been made and refuse, will be respected unless it was wrongful — it generally falls under business judgment

   i. If not wrongful — demand refusal terminates legal ability to initiate derivative action

      1. But where demand is properly excused, stockholder does possess ability to initiate action on corporation’s behalf

h. After objective and thorough investigation of derivative suit, SLC may cause its corporation to file pretrial motion to dismiss

   i. Motion: thorough written record of investigation, findings, and recommendations

   i. First: Court inquires into independence and good faith of committee and on the bases supporting conclusions . . . [if court is satisfied]

   j. Court applying own independent judgment – whether motion should be granted

10. SLC Independent?

   a. New York SLC recommendation implicates a two-tiered set of questions

      i. Challenged transaction (here, the illegal payments)

      ii. Committee’s recommendation that the action be dismissed iii. Judicial inquiry permitted with respect to

         1. Disinterested independence [factors]

            a. Is there bad blood?

         2. Adequacy of investigation

            a. Completeness of areas and subjects of inquiry

            b. Good faith inquiry

               i. Not half-hearted, etc.
b. Delaware – less deferential

   i. After an “objective and thorough investigation,” the committee may cause the corporation to file a motion to dismiss the derivative action

      1. Motion should include a written record of the committee’s investigation and its findings and recommendations

      2. Note: each side is given a limited opportunity for discovery

   ii. Burden of Proof – corporation – look into file cabinet for underlying transaction

   iii. In deciding whether to dismiss the action, the court is to apply a two-step test

      1. Independence and good faith of the committee

      2. Basis supporting the committee’s recommendation

      3. This step differs from AUERBACH…Delaware court looks not only at the procedures used, but also at the reasonableness of the basis for the committee’s decision

   iv. If the first step is satisfied, the court may but need not apply its own business judgment

   v. Judges should not dismiss meritorious derivative suits merely because the board and its committee jumped through all the procedural hoops

   vi. But…no real standard by which judges should apply their own business judgment

   vii. Court should consider such things as the corporation’s interest in having the suit dismissed and matters of law and public policy

11. SLC Independence Context

   a. Independence and disinterested decision makers key precondition to BJR

      i. Demand futility

      ii. SCL recommendation

      iii. Approval conflicted interest transactions

      iv. M&As – especially defenses against hostile takeover bids

      v. Special litigation committee (SLC) has burden on its motion to terminate the derivative action, must convince the court that there is no material issue of fact calling into doubt its independence
b. SLC Must prove
   i. Independent
   ii. Disinterested
   iii. Conducted good faith and reasonable investigation iv. Conclusion has reasonable basis

c. Special litigation committee (SLC) has burden on its motion to terminate the derivative action, must convince the court that there is no material issue of fact calling into doubt its independence

d. Fact that you’re dependent on other directors or CEO to get reelected isn’t enough
   i. Material benefits or detriments

Duty of Loyalty: Interested Director Transactions

The ‘business judgment rule,’ however, yields to the rule of undivided loyalty. This great rule of law is designed ‘to avoid the possibility of fraud and to avoid the temptation of self interest

1. Interested Director Transactions
   a. Directors have a duty to maximize shareholder wealth…
      i. In many settings, the Business Judgment Rule precludes judges from evaluating the shareholder wealth effects of board decisions…but also
      ii. Business Judgment Rule does NOT preclude judicial review of self-dealing transactions
   b. Negligence and self-dealing
      i. Both reduce shareholder wealth; both are forms of shirking

2. Conflicted Interest Transaction
   a. Direct transaction – director is dealing directly with the firm, such as where the director sells property to the firm
   b. Indirect transaction – third party or entity, in which the director has an interest, is dealing with the firm
      i. More likely to escape ex ante notice- deliberate concealment or inadvertence ii. But…also, the director’s interest may be more attenuated and may not rise to a legitimate conflict of interest
   c. Regulatory Options? Such personal transactions of directors with their corporations: scrupulous care
      i. Require proof of fairness ii. Require disclosure AND
      iii. Disinterested approval
   d. Not improper to appoint relatives of officers or directors to responsible positions in a company
      i. BUT where close relative of CEO and one of dominant directors takes position closely associated with new and expensive field of activity – question motives

Burden on D to prove:

Good faith of transaction AND Inherent fairness from C/interested viewpoint

Factors: reckless?
Unconscionable?
3. Authorization

DGCL § 144(a)

No contract or transaction between a corporation and 1 or more of its directors or officers, or between a corporation and any other corporation, partnership, association, or other organization in which 1 or more of its directors or officers, are directors or officers, or have a financial interest, shall be void or voidable solely for this reason, if:

(1) The material facts as to the director’s or officer’s relationship or interest and as to the contract or transaction are disclosed or are known to the board of directors or the committee, and the board or committee in good faith authorizes the contract or transaction by the affirmative votes of a majority of the disinterested directors, even though the disinterested directors be less than a quorum; or

(2) The material facts as to the director’s or officer’s relationship or interest and as to the contract or transaction are disclosed or are known to the shareholders entitled to vote thereon, and the contract or transaction is specifically approved in good faith by vote of the shareholders

(3) Contract or transaction is fair as to the corporation as of the time it is authorized, approved or ratified, by the board of directors, a committee or the shareholders

Fair: range of reasonableness

- Same parties as bargaining at arms-length might reach
- Another hired person wouldn’t have made a difference
- Cost is not disproportionate
- Contract standard form, negotiated by agent
- Compensation same as paid for comparable work
- Appeared more than others but no undue prominence
- Company products ads came first.

DGCL § 144(b)

Common or interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or of a committee which authorizes the contract or transaction

a. Effect of Shareholder Approval

i. Duty of care claims – extinguished by informed vote 1. NO BOD effect

ii. DOL vs. directors – fully informed vote shifts BOP to π to show waste 1. BOD approval has same effect

iii. DOL vs. controlling shareholders – fully informed vote shifts burden of proof to π to show unfairness
   1. NO BOD effect
4. Quorum Rules

DGCL § 141(b)

The vote of the majority of the directors present at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the board of directors unless the certificate of incorporation or the bylaws shall require a vote of a greater number.

RESCUE: § 141(i)

Unless otherwise restricted by the certificate of incorporation or bylaws, members of the board of directors of any corporation, or any committee designated by the board, may participate in a meeting of such board, or committee by means of conference telephone or other communications equipment by means of which all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other, and participation in a meeting pursuant to this subsection shall constitute presence in person.

a. Directors acting separately and not collectively as a board cannot bind the corporation. There are two reasons for this:

   i. That collective procedure is necessary in order that action may be deliberately taken after an opportunity for discussion and that an interchange of views ii. That directors are the agents of the stockholders and are not given by law no power to act except as a board

b. Bayer – When there are personal transactions of directors with their corporations: Their dealings with the corporation are subjected to rigorous scrutiny and

   i. Where any of their contracts or engagements with the corporation are challenged the burden is on the director not only to prove the good faith of the transaction but also to show its inherent fairness from the viewpoint of the corporation and those interested therein

c. Benihana – There is a safe harbor under § 144 (a)(1)

   i. If the material facts as to the director's relationship or interest and as to the contract or transaction are disclosed or are known to the board of directors and the board in good faith authorizes the contract or transaction by the affirmative votes of a majority of the disinterested directors

   ii. After approval by the disinterested directors, the court reviews the transaction according to the business judgment rule
Duty of Loyalty: Corporate Opportunities

1. Overview
   a. Objective – deter appropriations of new business prospects belonging to the corporation
   b. Targets – officers, directors, dominant shareholders with active role
   c. Doctrine – if there is presented to corporate officer or director a business opportunity which corporations is financially able to undertake, is from its nature, in line of corporation’s business and is of practical advantage to it, is one in which corporation has an interest or a reasonable expectancy and by embracing opportunity, self-interests of or director will be brought into the conflict with that of the corporation – law will not permit him to seize opportunity for himself

2. Exists where
   a. Corporation financially able to take the opportunity?
   b. Opportunity in the corporation’s line of business?
      i. Activity as to which the corporation has fundamental knowledge, practical experience and ability to pursue ii. Intended to be profitable . . . issuance of stock does not generate income → slicing pie into smaller pieces
   c. Does the corporation have an interest or expectancy in the opportunity?
      i. Some tie between that property and the nature of the corporate business
      ii. Expectancy- something should have come to the corporation as opposed to individual directors in flow of the ordinary operation of business…
         1. E.g., corporation has contractual right vs. more ephemeral corporate claim iii. Interest vs. Expectancy
         1. Interest- an officer bought land to which the corporation had a contractual right a. Firm has better right than someone else
            b. Property, contractual right
         iv. Expectancy – reason to think that the corporation would be offered an opportunity 1. Something that comes to doorstep because it’s part of your ordinary flow of business

d. Does an officer or director create a conflict between his self-interest and that of the corporation by taking the opportunity for himself?

   i. So long as no insider trading/bad faith – officers and directors can buy and sell shares of that corporation at will

1. Basic Principles
   a. Shareholders acting as shareholders owe one another no fiduciary duties
   b. Controlling shareholders owe fiduciary duties to the minority
      i. Analogy to vicarious liability

2. Scenarios
   a. Where the parent owns all the stock of the sub - that is a wholly owned subsidiary.
      i. Unlikely to get fiduciary claims there because you have basically just one owner. There is no minority shareholder to whom the parent would owe a duty.
   b. Situation where you have minority shares outstanding, and the Parent shareholder is only in partial control,
      i. Situations where the Parent owns a majority of the stock in the sub - so-called Majority-controlled subsidiaries,” or
      ii. It can arise where the Parent owns less than a majority of the stock but still sufficient shares to exercise control - so-called “minority-controlled subsidiaries

3. Standards of Review
   a. Business Judgment Rule – BOP: $\pi$ to rebut
   b. Intrinsic Fairness – BOP: $\Delta$ show transaction fair to minority
      i. Applied in any self-dealing transaction by a parent corporation whose majority ownership places a fiduciary duty upon the parent corporation, but the transaction only be self-dealing if the transaction is to the detriment of minority shareholders.
         1. When the situation involves a parent and a subsidiary, with the parent controlling the transaction and fixing the terms, the test of intrinsic fairness, with its resulting shifting of the burden of proof, is applied
         2. The basic situation of the application of the rule is the one in which the parent has received a benefit it to the exclusion and at the expense of the subsidiary
c. How court selects standard of review

i. Used when parent received benefit to exclusion of minority shareholders of subsidiary and at the expense of the minority shareholders of the subsidiary

1. If parent did NOT exclude \( \rightarrow \) BJR

2. If parent did exclude \( \rightarrow \) Intrinsic

   a. Effectively turns into self-dealing

d. Case application

i. Sinclair Oil Corp. v. Levien – with regards to the dividend issue, Sinven's minority shareholders got just as much dividend as Sinclair did, so there was no self-dealing, the intrinsic fairness didn't apply and the business judgment rule should be used. However, the Court found that with regards to the contract issue, Sinclair was self-dealing by having their subsidiaries enter into contract with one another and then breach them without penalty. Therefore intrinsic fairness applied, and damages to the minority shareholders caused by the breach of contract are affirmed

4. 3 Situations: Breach of Contract

   a. Non-enforcement of contract had been approved my majority of the interested directors \( \rightarrow \) burden of proof on the \( \Delta \)

   b. Non-enforcement of contract had been approved by a majority of the disinterested directors and then also by a majority of the disinterested shareholders

      i. Shifts BOP to plaintiff to show transaction was unfair – Wheelabrator

   c. Non-enforcement of contract had been approved by a majority of the disinterested directors – no shareholder action

      i. Shifts BOP to plaintiff to show that there was waste in order to overcome the BJR shield

   d. Zahn v. Transamerica Corporation \( \rightarrow \) “a disinterested board of directors of Axton-Fisher would undoubtedly have exercised its powers to call the Class A stock before liquidation, disclosing the intention to liquidate together with full information as to the appreciated value of Axton-Fisher’s tobacco inventory”

      i. Basic rule: Dominant shareholder cannot use power to exclude minority from pro rata share in benefit

         1. Applies to dual class shares as well

vi. Action without meetings – written consent 1. Must be unanimous
      a. Compare DGCL § 228(a) – action by consent vii. Compare: 339 in favor/398 opposed/3 abstain 1. MBCA § 7.25(c) – matter approved if votes cast in favor > votes cast against

       a. Result = Pass

viii. DGCL § 216 – decisions must be approved by the vote of a majority of shares present 1. Result = Fail

      2. Can be difficult to get a quorum – that costs money

d. Relatively Rare
   i. Costly
      1. Only reimbursed if win
      2. Most of benefits go to free riders ii. Bonds – senior + junior

2. Lemons Problem
   a. The core of the problem is the information asymmetry between buyers and sellers. Sellers always know more about the good for sale than a buyer.
   b. Stock exchanges attempt to deal with this problem in a number of ways.
      i. Underwriters put companies through rigorous due diligence before they are willing to list their shares.
         1. Then the exchanges themselves impose disclosure and governance requirements on those companies.

      ii. Required in connection with any public sale

   b. Securities Exchange Act of 1934

      i. Periodic

         1. Form 10 (once)
         2. Form 10-K (annual)
         3. Form 10-Q (quarterly) 4. Form 8-K (episodic)

      ii. Only required of registered companies

5. Purpose of Securities Laws

   a. Full disclosure - Make sure that investors have all the information they need to make informed decisions

   b. Prevent fraud - Agency cost problem re disclosure – how to make a credible bond?

6. Three Roads to Registration

   a. Listing on a national exchange → Section 12 (a) & (b)

   b. Over the counter stocks → Section 12(g) and Rule 12(g)

   c. Filing a registration statement → Section 15(d) 7. Disclosures and Fairness

a. Trading in corporate securities [stocks or bonds] takes place on types of markets:

i. Primary market—in which the issuer of the securities, i.e., the company that created the securities sells them to investors

1. Securities Act: principally concerned with the primary market

a. Two goals:

i. Mandating disclosure of material information to investors

   ii. Fraud prevention

   b. Follows a transactional disclosure model—mandating disclosures by issuers in connection with primary market transactions

ii. Secondary market—investors trade securities among themselves without any significant participation by the original issuer

1. Securities Exchange Act: primarily concerned with the secondary market transactions

a. Concerned with: insider trading, securities fraud, short swing profits by corporate insiders, regulation of shareholder voting via proxy solicitations, and regulation of tender offers

   b. Requires periodic disclosure by publicly held corporations

8. Defining Security

a. Two broad categories in Securities Act § 2(1)

   i. Instruments commonly known as securities: stocks, notes, bonds

   ii. Instruments specified by the Act to be securities: fractional undivided interest in oil, gas, or other mineral rights and broad, catch-all phrase “investment contract”

b. Knowing if something is a security is relevant because

   i. Tells you if registration requirements of SA33 apply to transaction

   ii. Relates to antifraud provisions

   1. Plaintiffs have a much easier time when they bring suit under the securities laws than they would if they had to bring suit under state common law fraud rules 9. Do We Have A Security?

a. In determining if an investment is a security Howey Test or Landrith Test
   i. Howey – focuses on expectation of profits on effort of others
   ii. Landrith - focuses on attributes typically associated with stock – negotiable, alienable, control rights, proportional profits

b. Howey Defines security – any transaction in which a person
   i. Invests money (or something of the like) ii. In a common enterprise and
   iii. Is led to expect profits iv. Solely from the efforts of others
      1. Meaning someone other than the investor has contributed the predominant managerial effort in the common enterprise

c. Investment Contract
   i. Contract, transaction or scheme whereby a person invests his money in a common enterprise and is led to expect profits solely from the efforts of the promoter or a third party  [Relaxed standard]

   ii. To determine whether an investment scheme may qualify as investment contract, the court looked into the economic reality of the situation:
      1. The question is whether an investor, as a result of the investment agreement itself or the factual circumstances that surround it, is left unable to exercise meaningful control over his investment
         a. Passive investor relying on the efforts of others, or a knowledgeable executive actively protecting his interest and position in the company

   iii. Stock: The characteristics typically associated with common stock are
      1. Right to receive dividends contingent upon an apportionment of profits
      2. Negotiability
      3. Ability to be pledged or hypothecated
      4. Conferring of voting rights in proportion to the number of shares owned;
      5. Capacity to appreciate in value iv. Where an investor has a level of control that allows him to actively protect his interest, which is inconsistent with passive investment, his interest does NOT qualify as an investment contract and thus is not within definition of “security” under federal securities laws.

10. Three Periods of Transaction a. Pre-filing period → No or limited selling activity
   b. Waiting Period → Offers permitted but no sales
      i. SEC review: adequacy of disclosure, not merits
   c. Post-Effective Period → Sales allowed
      i. Prospectus must be delivered

11. Costs Associated With Registration: Regulatory Arbitrage in Primary Market a. Public offerings can be useful – especially IPO BUT i. Very expensive
         1. Costs associated with registration process
         2. Lawyers; Accountants; Printers; Delay
         3. Costs associated with registration process
         4. Disclosure costs

   a. Prohibits sale of securities unless issuing-company has registered them with the SEC
   b. § 5 Basic Rules
      i. Security may not be offered for sale through the mails or by use of other means of interstate commerce unless a registration statement has been filed with the SEC ii. Securities may not be sold until the registration statement has become effective iii. Prospectus must be delivered to the purchaser before a sale

13. § 5 Exemptions from Registration
   a. Exempts some securities entirely and exempts some transaction in securities not otherwise exempt
      i. An exempt security need never be registered, either when initially sold by the issuer or in any subsequent transaction ii. Exempt transaction, in contrast, are one time exemptions 14. § 5 Exemptions Get You a. No Mandatory Disclosure
      i. (Registration statements and periodic filings)
   b. No coverage by gun jumping rules
   c. No obligation to distribute prospectus
   d. No obligation to update prospectus
   e. Escape coverage by Section 11 and 12(a)2
   f. But Sec. 10b and Rule 10b-5 still count

15. Public Offering vs. Private Placement a. § 4(2) provides exemptions for private offerings:
      i. “Provisions of § 5 shall not apply to transactions by an issuer not involving any public offering”
   b. Private Placement Test [Factors] to qualify for exemption
      i. Number of offerees and relationship to issuer 1. Focus: information available to the offerees by virtue of that relationship. This can be shown in two ways:
            a. Corporation actually disclosed the information that a registration statement would normally provide, OR
            b. Offeree had effective access to that relevant information.
            c. 25 person rule of thumb ii. Number of units offered iii. Size of the offering iv. Manner of offering [no general advertising or solicitation]
      c. SEC v. Ralston Purina Co. — court held that offering did not qualify for the 4(2) exemption when Purina sold $2 million of common stock to employees. Offers were made to about 500 employees, restricted to those “key” employees that took the initiative to inquire about the stock
      d. Doran v. Petroleum Management Corp – Doran bought shares in a limited partnership formed to drill for oil. Doran paid cash and also took over a promissory note owed by the partnership. Issuer did not register its offering [remanded] 1. § 11 Liabilities: Misstatements/Fraud in Registration Statement

a. Deal team liability – covers issuer, CEO, CFO, Directors, Bankers, Auditors

i. Powerful tool because no scienter/intent, causation or reliance required

ii. Attorneys not liable

1. Attorneys know the law (hopefully) and have considerable access to company information.

2. On the other hand, imposing liability on attorneys as experts will:

a. Chill information flows from the company to the attorneys;

b. Relieve all other defendants of a duty to engage in “reasonable investigation” to the extent they are non-experts; and

c. Raise legal fees substantially

3. At a minimum, imposing liability on lawyers as experts would require imposing more stringent duties on non-experts [Escott]

2. § 11 Liability Defense

a. Due Diligence – § 11(b)(3)(A)

i. No person other than the issuer shall be liable as provided therein who shall sustain the burden of proof that as regards to any non-expertised part of the registration statement he had

1. After a reasonable investigation

   a. Reasonable ground to believe and did so believe

       i. At the time such part of the registration statement became effective, that the statements therein were true and that there was no omission to state a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading

   2. Reasonableness – prudent man in management of own property §11(c)
b. Due diligence requirements vary with relationship of individual to the company and his respective expertise

i. Escott – due diligence requires what a prudent person would do. At the very least due diligence requires not ignoring red flags and looking at easily obtainable written documents to verify oral disclosures by company insiders

ii. World-Com – court held that the unaudited interim financials were non-expertised for three reasons:

1. SEC acted in 1979 to assure auditors that review of interim financials would not result in their facing § 11 liability as experts

2. Audits require a detailed formal process under which the auditor will study and evaluation the company’s internal accounting control system, test accounting records, obtain corroborating evidential matter, among other procedures

3. Comfort letters do not require any of these extra procedures and are therefore less reliable.

c. Liability requires that the fact which is falsely stated in a registration statement, or the fact that is omitted when it should have been stated to avoid misleading, be material

i. Material is limited to what average prudent investor ought to reasonably to be informed before purchasing the security registered

d. Liability of a director who signs a registration statement does not depend upon whether he read it, or whether he understood what he was reading

e. Imposes liability in the first instance upon a director, no matter how new he is, he is presumed to know his responsibility when he becomes a director, he can except liability only by using that reasonable care to investigation in the facts which a prudent man would employ in the management of his own property

f. Imposes liability for untrue statements regardless of whether they are intentionally untrue. The way to prevent mistakes is to test oral information my examining the original written record 3. § 12 Liabilities

a. Failure to Register a Public Offering - § 12(a)(1)

i. Any person who offers or sells a security in violation of § 5 shall be liable to the person purchasing such security from him ...

1. To recover the consideration paid for such security with interest thereon, less the amount of any income received thereon, upon the tender of such security, or for damages if he no longer owns the security.

ii. Pre-Filing

1. Section 5(a) forbids sales before the registration statement before it has been declared effective

2. Section 5(b)(2) requires that a final prospectus accompany or precede the delivery of the security (Moot point: no one actually delivers securities physically anymore.)

3. Section 5(b)(1) forbids the transmission of non-conforming prospectuses

4. Section 5(c) Offers are forbidden until the registration statement is on file with the SEC

iii. Cause of Action under § 12(a)(1)

1. Plaintiff must show
   a. Offer or sale involved an instrumentality of interstate commerce AND
   b. Securities were not registered
   c. DOES NOT have to show reliance . . . Unlike § 11 no requirement: material misstatement/omission

2. Defendant bears burden of showing exemption

b. Misstatements in Selling a Public Offering (Anti-Fraud Provision) – § 12(a)(2)

i. Applies to information in the actual prospectus (and possibly other information used in documents associated with the public offering process)

   1. At the time the prospectus is used (which can be after the effective date of the registration statement)

ii. Written document prospectus does not include

   1. Written documents prepared for a privately negotiated transaction Secondary Market Activity Securities Exchange Act of 1934

   a. In order to claim a violation of Securities Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5, one must prove fraud in connection with the purchase of securities
      i. Security – any note, stock, treasury stock, security future, bond, debenture, investment contract or in general any interest or instrument commonly known as a security

2. Liabilities under § 10 a. Rule 10b – It shall be unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, by the use of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce, or of the mails or of any facility of any national securities exchange
      i. Rule 10b-5 – In connection with the purchase or sale of any security
         a. To employ any device, scheme, or artifice to defraud,
         b. To make any untrue statement of a material fact or to omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading,
         c. To engage in any act, practice, or course of business which operates or would operate as a fraud or deceit upon any person ii. Rule 10b-5 applies regardless of whether or not
         1. Security is registered or listed on an exchange, and 2. Security is exempt from § 5
            a. Applies to both issuer transactions–i.e., offerings, public or private–and secondary market transactions

3. Goals of 10b-5 = Deterrence (lemons problem) + Compensation – encourages Investors to participate
   a. D – Fraud means securities will be systematically overpriced
   b. D – Rational investors will discount what they are willing to pay if they know fraud is going unchecked
   c. D – Issuers who tell the truth will be better off if issuers who commit fraud are sanctioned – e.g., less discounting will occur if level of fraud is reduced Effective sanctions for fraud facilitates sorting of investment, avoid lemons effect Supplement to SEC enforcement 4. Elements of 10b-5

a. Standing (Jurisdictional and transactional nexus)

i. Interstate commerce (web, mail, phone call) AND only purchasers and sellers

b. Material misrepresentation or omission of information

i. Materiality will depend at any given time upon the balancing of both the indicated probability that the event will occur and the anticipated magnitude of the event in light of the totality of the circumstances Basic v. Levinson

1. To assess the probability that the event will occur, a fact finder will need to look to indicia of interest in the transaction at the highest corporate levels

   a. Look to board resolutions, instruction to investment bankers, and actual negotiations between principals or their intermediaries

2. To assess the magnitude of the transaction to the issued of the securities allegedly manipulated, a factfinder will need to consider such facts as the size of the two corporate entities and of the potential premiums over market value

ii. Probability and magnitude are fact based:

   1. Board resolutions, investment bankers, negotiations are all indicia of interest that may indicate an increased probability of merger;

   2. Also look at merger premium, relative capitalizations of the two companies to determine magnitude of the merger to a company’s shareholders.

c. Reliance

i. Reliance proves the requisite causal connection between a defendant’s misrepresentation and a plaintiff’s injury

   ii. Any showing that severs the link between the alleged misrepresentation and either the price received (or paid) by the plaintiff, or his decision to trade at a fair market price, will be sufficient to rebut the presumption of reliance

   iii. Fraud on the Market

   1. Presumption that investor relied on integrity of market price – so investor need not have seen misrepresentation

      a. Observing that the reality of modern securities markets is such that face-to-face transactions are rare, Justice Blackmun noted that requiring a showing of actual reliance would effectively prevent plaintiffs from ever proceeding as a class action
d. Deception (look to fiduciary duties if 10b-5 fails)

   i. Full disclosure negates deception

   ii. Manipulative: generally refers to practices, such as wash sales, matched orders, or rigged process, that are intended to mislead investors by artificially affecting market activity. Santa Fe Ind.

      1. Manipulative in this technical sense of artificially affecting market activity in order to mislead investors

      2. Nondisclosure is usually essential to the success of a manipulative scheme

e. Sciente – state of mind – PSLRA (strong inference $\Delta$ acted with requisite intent)

   i. Actual motive: intent to defraud

   ii. Knowledge: had facts and understood market would be misled if not disclosed

   iii. Recklessness: “so highly unreasonably and such an extreme departure from the standard of ordinary care as to present a danger of misleading the plaintiff to the extent … obvious that the defendant must have been aware of it”

      1. Negligence – not enough under 10b-5 and Strict Liability – not available under 10b-5

f. Pleading Requirements: state with particularity facts giving rise to a strong inference that the defendant acted with the required state of mind

   i. PSLRA § 21D(b)(1) – misstatements be pled with particularity and why they are misleading but not detailed proof: pleading validity Insider Trading

1. Arguments Against
   a. Insider trading transfers trading profits from random outsiders to insiders i. May harm liquidity ii. Increase trading costs
   b. Insider trading may undermine property rights in valuable information
   c. Insider trading may encourage the choice of more volatile investment projects

2. Arguments For
   a. Form of incentive compensation to insiders
   b. Shareholders invest to incentivize risk taking
   c. Improves market efficiency
      i. Would allow “strong form” efficiency to prevail ii. Today, insiders still profit

3. State Common Law
   a. Goodwin v. Agassiz – Whether the defendants had a duty to disclose the theory before trading in the firm’s securities
      i. A purchaser of stock on the market does not owe a fiduciary duty to a seller to disclose the information that the purchaser may know, even when the purchaser is in a position that provides insider information.
      ii. Where a director personal seeks a stockholder for the purpose of buying his shares without making disclosure of material facts within his peculiar knowledge and not within the reach of the stockholder, the transaction will be closely scrutinized and relief may be granted in appropriate instances
         1. Fraud cannot be presumed it must be proven 4. Three Rules

   a. Majority Rule – Officers and directors’ may trade with shareholders without disclosing material information

   b. Special Circumstances Rule – Duty to disclose might be imposed when there were special circumstances

      i. Highly material information

      ii. Concealment of identity or other active fraud

      iii. Especially vulnerable plaintiff

   c. Minority Rule – Insiders have a duty of full disclosure material information whenever they purchase shares from shareholders

Federal Law

5. Legal rule re: insider trading – disclose or abstain

   a. Where an insider has material nonpublic information the insider must either disclose such information before trading or abstain from trading until the information has been disclosed

   b. Silence is not fraudulent absent a “duty to disclose arising from a relationship of trust and confidence between parties to a transaction” Chiarella

      i. Chiarella tells us that a duty to disclose confidential information or abstain from trading only applies if the defendant owes a fiduciary duty, or similar relationship of trust and confidence, to the party on the other side of the transaction.

   c. The rule: If one party to a transaction involving purchase or sale of a security occupies a fiduciary relation, or similar relation of trust and confidence, to the other party (i.e., the shareholders)

      i. Rule 10b-5 imposes an affirmative duty of disclosure of (1) material, (2) nonpublic information (3) that may affect the security's value known to him and unknown to the other party.

      ii. Absent the requisite disclosure, the fiduciary must abstain from trading. Chiarella 6. Has there been tipping?

   a. When someone comes into possession of corporate information, that they know is confidential and know came from a corporate insider, they must either publicly disclose that information or refrain from trading

   b. Test

      i. Did the insider’s (the tipper’s) tip constitute a breach of the insider’s fiduciary duty?

         1. Depends largely on the purpose of the disclosure (sometimes insiders mistakenly think that the info has been disclosed already)

      ii. Will the insider (the tipper) personally benefit, directly or indirectly, from this disclosure

         1. Absent some personal gain, there has been no breach of duty to stockholder

         2. Absent a breach by the insider, there is no derivative breach iii. If YES, the tippee has a fiduciary duty.

   c. Dirks v. SEC – if no violation of a fiduciary duty then there can be no violation of rule 10b-5

      i. Tipping requires a breach of fiduciary duty by the tipper (duty of loyalty)

         1. Reciprocal benefit, either directly or indirectly $\rightarrow$ pecuniary game or reputation

         2. Intention to make a gift

         3. Careless disclosure not a breach

      ii. Tippee must be aware that tipper has breached fiduciary duty by disclosing 7. Has there been Misappropriation?

a. A person commits fraud in connection with a securities transaction, and thereby violates §10(b) and Rule 10b-5 when he misappropriates confidential information for securities trading purposes, in breach of a duty owed to the source of the information.

   i. 10b5-2: what relationships are close enough to count under a misappropriation theory – if promised to keep information silent, pattern/practice of keeping things silent, relationship of spouse/spouse, parent/child or sibling/sibling.

   ii. An outsider who misappropriates confidential information for his own personal benefit violates §10(b) because there is deception in connection with the purchase or sale of a security (it defrauds the person of the exclusive use of that information).

b. This theory focuses on the duty owed not to a trading party, but to the source of the information

8. Rational - Based in policy on the justifiable expectation of the securities marketplace that all investors trading on impersonal exchanges have relatively equal access to material information.

9. Who is an Insider?

   a. Exchange Act § 16(b): Officers, directors, and 10% shareholders

   b. Rule 10b-5: “anyone in possession of material inside information must either disclose it to the investing public, or ... must abstain from trading”

10. Penalties

   a. Administrative hearings against defendants under the SEC’s direct regulation (brokers, dealers, etc.

   b. Equitable relief in civil case brought by the SEC:

      i. Injunctions; e.g., forbidding violator from being employed in the securities industry

      ii. Disgorgement of profits

      iii. Treble money sanction under ITSA

   c. Criminal indictment: 20 years jail and up to $5 million fine for individuals and $25.5 million for corporate defendants per count

   d. Private suits—rare
