RECOMMENDED TEXT: F. Scott Kieff & Ralph Nack, International, United States, and European Intellectual Property: Selected Source Material 2010-2011 (Wolters Kluwer 2010). This book contains the major international treaties governing intellectual property and the European Union, excerpts from U.S. intellectual property statutes, and European directives and regulations on intellectual property. You can find most of this information online, but internet connections are not always reliable, so I recommend that you purchase this book and bring it with you to Munich. (The book sells for about $40 on Amazon, and used copies are available for less.) Please make sure you get the correct edition (green cover, not blue).

CLASSROOM: Our classroom will be in the Art Deco Palais building of the Globe Business College, Arnulfstrasse 58, 80335 Munich. This classroom is a short walk from the Hackerbrücke stop on the S-Bahn (5 stops from Rosenheimer Platz). All classes will be in this classroom unless noted otherwise. This location will be pointed out during our walking tour.

NOTE: THIS SCHEDULE IS TENTATIVE AND IS SUBJECT TO CHANGE.

Sunday, May 31, 2015

3:00PM: Social. Prof. Ochoa will meet you in the lobby of the Hotel Max Emanuel (Rablstrasse 10) for an informal get together, lasting about two hours. (If you have not met Professor Ochoa and want to know what he looks like, you can see his photograph at www.scu.edu/law/faculty/profile/ochoa-tyler.cfm.) We will walk from the Hotel to the Rosenheimer Platz S-Bahn stop and take the S-Bahn to the classroom. We will then walk to a Munich landmark, the Augustiner Biergarten, for refreshments and conversation. Optional walking tour of the Munich city center.
