

SANTA CLARA LAW

BECOME A LAWYER WHO LEADS

Santa Clara University School of Law takes pride in educating lawyers who lead with competence, conscience, and compassion.

“I chose Santa Clara Law because of its Jesuit values and diverse student body. I stayed here because the faculty and students encouraged both my academic and personal growth. This supportive environment makes the challenges of law school surmountable and even enjoyable.”

—BARBARA WOLFE '12, above

TEN REASONS TO STUDY AT SANTA CLARA LAW

Here are some of the many reasons our students say they love this school.

1. ROBUST PROGRAM WITH SMALL CLASSES

We offer more than 100 courses each year, including more than 40 in the popular area of IP and high tech law and policy. Classes are small, the mood is collegial and supportive, and our students tell us they value the true sense of community here.

2. DEDICATED FACULTY

Our outstanding faculty is made up of leading scholars and dynamic mentors who are approachable, available, and dedicated to helping you succeed.

3. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

We are consistently ranked among the nation's best law schools for our intellectual property curriculum and program.

4. INTERNATIONAL LAW AND SUMMER ABROAD

Our comprehensive global law program includes more summer abroad opportunities than any other law school in the nation. Your international studies can include business, human rights, or intellectual property.

5. SOCIAL JUSTICE

We have a strong commitment to social justice, and our students deepen their compassion and learn valuable legal skills while serving others in our many clinics, including our Northern California Innocence Project and the Katharine and George Alexander Community Law Center.

6. DIVERSITY

Santa Clara Law is consistently ranked among the top 10 most diverse law schools in the country. More than 40 percent of the students are members of a minority. The diverse backgrounds and experience of your classmates strengthen the classroom experience.

7. LOCATION

The San Francisco Bay Area is home to many of the country's top law firms, legal employers, and leading companies, allowing you to expand your career options. In addition, we partner with Silicon Valley executives and attorneys who will enrich your legal education as they share their up-to-the-minute experience in courses, workshops, and lectures.

8. PROFESSIONAL TRAINING THROUGH CLINICS AND EXTERNSHIPS

Our students seize the opportunity to extern at the many leading national and international companies and firms that are based in our neighborhood, including Yahoo!, eBay, Facebook, and Google, as well as major law firms such as Wilson Sonsini, Cooley LLP, Kilpatrick Townsend, and Morrison & Foerster. Each year, hundreds of our students engage in externships—you could clerk for a judge, a district attorney, or public defender—as well as work directly for clients at clinics or at private companies or firms.

9. ALUMNI NETWORK

Santa Clara Law's robust alumni network includes more than 11,000 graduates across the U.S. and around the world. Our alumni serve as leaders in all areas of the law, from in-house counsel, to firm partners, to judges. Our alumni actively support our students by serving as mentors, participating in mock interviews, and hosting networking events.

10. BEAUTIFUL CAMPUS IN A BEAUTIFUL REGION

It is gorgeous here! In fact, in a 2012 ranking, Newsweek magazine listed SCU as the second most beautiful campus in the nation. The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the most stunning (and most often visited) regions in the United States, and our historic Mission campus, part of the oldest university in the West, is a peaceful oasis of learning in a lovely Mediterranean climate. Our central location puts you close to beaches, culture, world-famous wine-making regions, and more.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE THE LAW SCHOOL OF SILICON VALLEY?

Silicon Valley is much more than high tech—it is a vibrant, diverse, and exciting place to study law. This area is filled with opportunity...and your future awaits you here.

SILICON VALLEY IS...

INNOVATIVE

Silicon Valley is known around the world for its entrepreneurial spirit and its many start-ups, not only in high tech and biotech, but across the business spectrum. At Santa Clara Law, our IP program consistently ranks among the top in the nation, and our location here will enable you to learn from and work in some of the world's best-known companies and firms.

GLOBAL

Legal work is increasingly global, and when you study law in Silicon Valley, one of the world's premier business centers, there are countless opportunities for global learning, connections, and experience. Santa Clara Law also has key scholars working in international human rights, and some of our students and graduates have the opportunity to change the world.

DIVERSE

Santa Clara Law is one of the most diverse law schools in the nation, and the Silicon Valley area is one of the most culturally diverse regions in the country. Half the population speaks a language other than English in the home. All this diversity makes for a vibrant community in which to learn, work, and play.

CONNECTED

In addition to the many hands-on connections we have to the Silicon Valley business world, Santa Clara Law is also connected to the Silicon Valley community itself. Our students and faculty provide thousands of hours of free legal services each year to low-income and immigrant communities. And our alumni serve the area in many roles, including as district attorneys, judges, and social justice advocates.

OUR RICH TRADITION

Santa Clara Law was founded in 1911 on the site of California's oldest operating higher-education institution, Santa Clara University. In 2011, we celebrated our first century of educating lawyers who lead with competence, conscience, and compassion. Our rich tradition is rooted in the Jesuit educational model, and Santa Clara Law offers programs and curricula that integrate academic excellence with social and personal responsibility.

2nd

Newsweek magazine ranked Santa Clara University as the second most beautiful campus in the nation (8/2012).

CHOOSE YOUR PATH

At Santa Clara Law, you will get the training and knowledge you need no matter what area of law you decide to pursue. Our part-time and full-time programs give you creative options and flexibility.

J.D. PROGRAM

Choose to attend part-time, in the evening, or full-time, in the day—the breadth and depth of our course offerings give you lots of options for exploring the field.

J.D./MBA AND J.D./MSIS

Our combined degree programs save you time and money by enabling you to earn both degrees in full-time programs lasting three and one half to four years.

BE

OUR HIGH TECH AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PROGRAM

Santa Clara Law is consistently ranked as one of the top places in the country to study intellectual property and high technology law, and for good reasons.

OUR FACULTY

We have a dozen full-time faculty members with expertise on every aspect of IP and high tech law, plus two dozen part-time faculty members working at leading Silicon Valley law firms and technology companies.

OUR COURSES

Our numerous course offerings in high tech enable you to create a personalized course of study. We also offer one of the nation's only combined J.D./MSIS degrees.

LOCATION

Our location, combined with our popular evening program that enables working professionals to go to law school, has resulted in a student body with vast experience in a wide range of technology fields. Students in the high tech program inevitably report that they learn as much from their classmates as from their teachers.

COMMUNITY

Here, high tech law is not discussed just in the classroom—it is the subject of conferences, lunchtime lectures, and workshops, often featuring high tech corporate insiders and practitioners, including alumni. Our High Tech Law Institute brings together practitioners, students, and academics to explore legal issues and policies vital to emerging technologies. You can help organize major conferences attended by a national audience of lawyers, judges, and academics.

STUDENT GROUPS

You can engage more deeply with the legal issues through our student organizations, including the Computer and High Technology Law Journal, the Student Intellectual Property Association, and the Biotech Law Group.

“Santa Clara Law was absolutely the best choice for me. The rigorous and practical legal education allowed me to combine the study of legal theory with practical hands-on experience. Many of the professors are themselves practicing attorneys, who shared their perspective and the insight they’ve gained from handling real cases.”

—LINDA J. WUESTEHUBE (KAHL) '10, won the Jan Jancin Award for the top IP law student in the nation, given by the American Intellectual Property Law Association. She is now a legal scholar in the Department of Bioengineering at Stanford University and director of the Ownership, Access, Sharing and Innovation Systems (OASIS) project, sponsored by the Synthetic Biology Engineering Research Center.

ALUMNI LEADERS IN HIGH TECH

1. Sam O'Rourke '99, Deputy General Counsel, Intellectual Property, Facebook, Inc.,
2. Valerie Alabanza-Cary '00, IP & Patent Counsel Director, Juniper Networks, 3. Andrew Vu '93, Assistant General Counsel, SAP, named 2012 Community Champion in the Bay Area Best Corporate Counsel Awards, sponsored by the Silicon Valley/San Jose Business Journal and the San Francisco Business Times. To meet other alumni leaders, visit law.scu.edu/lawyerswholead.

HIGH TECH CERTIFICATES

You can choose to amp up your résumé by earning a certificate in High Tech Law, and you can specialize in intellectual property, international law, or corporate law.

“Even though some of our students come to law school with advanced science or engineering degrees, you do not need a background in technology to focus on intellectual property at Santa Clara. I focused on the less technical aspects of IP law, such as copyrights and trademarks, and I earned a High Tech Law Certificate with a corporate law specialization.”

GO GLOBAL

OUR INTERNATIONAL LAW PROGRAM

An understanding of global issues, differing countries' legal systems, and diverse cultures is now necessary to nearly every area of law practice. Santa Clara Law's international programs, facilitated through the Center for Global Law and Policy, draw students from across the country and around the globe. Designed to offer a wide range of academic and experiential opportunities, with several faculty members who are internationally renowned legal experts, the program trains students for important roles in the international business, judicial, and human rights communities.

CERTIFICATES

Show employers your global experience with an International Law Certificate, and you can choose to specialize in Public International Law, International Business Law, or Comparative Law.

CLINIC—INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS

In our International Human Rights Clinic, you can help change the world by working on major human rights issues under the guidance of experienced practitioners.

STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS

We offer more summer abroad programs in more locations than any other law school in the country. Our summer abroad programs are unique in that they are designed as true academic and field-work immersion experiences. Taught by local faculty who are experts in their fields, our courses track subjects of interest within the region, while being integrated into an overall curriculum that prepares a student for practice in a global economy. Most courses are followed by an optional internship opportunity.

“Santa Clara Law offers a study abroad experience for everyone with classes that range from international criminal law and human rights to international high tech law and private international law. Many of the courses offer internship components, providing for a unique work experience in different parts of the world. My summer abroad was one of the most memorable experiences of my life. I observed trials at the International Criminal Court in the Hague, visited several different international organizations in Geneva, and met world-renowned judges and scholars in Strasbourg. My summer experience inspired me to work in the international arena and enabled me to further my career goals.”

—ANN JENNY ARVIDSSON '11,
Research Analyst, Glass, Lewis,
& Co., where she focuses on business and compliance issues in the Nordic and Continental European markets

“Global companies such as eBay look for lawyers with practical experience and a firm understanding of international legal principles. Santa Clara’s overseas legal internships offer students an unparalleled experience, gaining both practical experience at a firm or in-house in a global setting. Personally, my experience with SCU’s Japan program focused me on Intellectual Property law, and my internship at Honda’s head office in Tokyo helped pave my road to eBay Inc.”

OUR PUBLIC INTEREST AND SOCIAL JUSTICE LAW PROGRAMS

Perhaps you are drawn to law because you want to help others or maybe even change the world. At Santa Clara Law, we have a 100-year history of training lawyers to be compassionate members of society who serve others. As a Santa Clara Law student, you will have many opportunities to deepen your knowledge of the law and practice for your career while serving those in need.

Our Center for Social Justice and Public Service provides a community for all who share the commitment to giving voice in the legal system to marginalized, subordinated, or underrepresented clients and causes.

“The difference made...is immeasurable. It is a perfect example of how hard work, dedication, and compassion can overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles and leave that kind of impact on the world that I had always dreamed of making.”

—NICK SYMPSON '13, WHO WORKED ON AN EXONERATION WITH THE NORTHERN CALIFORNIA INNOCENCE PROJECT AT SANTA CLARA LAW

CERTIFICATES

Demonstrate your dedication to service by earning a general Public Interest Law Certificate, or choose one with an emphasis in consumer law, criminal justice, critical race jurisprudence, health law, or immigration and refugee law.

CLINICAL PRACTICE OPPORTUNITIES

These exceptional programs teach students key lawyering skills, in addition to the critical skill of ethical lawyering for both prosecution and defense.

Katharine and George Alexander Community Law

Center is a free legal clinic where law students work with attorney mentors to represent clients in need. You can focus on consumer rights, workers' rights, immigration law, and other areas.

The Northern California Innocence Project is a clinical program providing students the opportunity to represent California prisoners raising claims of factual innocence. By taking this class, you may be part a team that is responsible for freeing an innocent person.

The Low-Income Taxpayer Clinic helps to ensure the fairness and integrity of the tax system for the benefit of the local community, and you can learn about effective professional and ethical representation of clients in tax disputes with the IRS.

“How often does one describe law school as a warm and supportive environment, and a learning experience in which the competent practice of law is taught with conscience and compassion? That was my experience at Santa Clara Law. As a student, I had wonderful teacher/mentors and the opportunity to help others, and those experiences inspired me to found the Watsonville Law Center so I could continue serving others in my career. Righting a wrong changes a life, changes a family’s life, and creates a future for children and grandchildren that shapes our own future. It is a privilege.”

—DORI ROSE INDA '00 (above), FOUNDER AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, WATSONVILLE LAW CENTER

“Being able to devote an entire summer to working on behalf of underrepresented communities of color—ensuring that their interests and voices were heard in Sacramento on fundamental issues such as public education—only deepened my belief in an individual’s ability to create tangible positive change. The experience reaffirmed my passion and commitment to working for social justice and equality.”

—Carolyn Kim '12, Public Advocates Summer Grant Recipient

“Spending the summer providing legal services to low-income individuals on the Navajo Nation Reservation opened my eyes to vast opportunities and experiences. I gained infinitely more than I gave.”

BE PREPARED

OUR GRADUATES ARE PRACTICE READY

When you graduate from Santa Clara Law, you will be practice ready, because you will have spent hundreds of hours gaining experience while in school. In our many clinical and moot court opportunities, you will tackle real-world legal problems and help real clients, all as part of your legal education. You will also learn key skills in our intensive legal research and writing program. All these experiences will be a great boost to your résumé.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

In addition to practicing in our clinics such as the Northern California Innocence Project (see page 23), Santa Clara Law offers numerous opportunities for you to hone your legal skills through moot court and simulated trial practice. Each year we field teams in a large number of internal, national, and international competitions, and each team is closely mentored by faculty and alumni coaches.

LAW JOURNALS

Become a student editor for one of our three distinguished academic journals: Santa Clara Law Review, Computer and High Technology Law Journal, and Santa Clara Journal of International Law. Working on a journal is a great way to wrestle with legal issues and prepare for your career.

OUR FACULTY LEADERS

Santa Clara Law faculty members are a stellar group of intellectuals, including high tech experts, Rhodes Scholars, former Supreme Court clerks, national leaders in social justice, and international scholars in human rights, to name a few. Plus, our students rave about our approachable and supportive faculty members, who will help you get the most out of your legal education.

(Above) Professor Colleen Chien was one of five witnesses that testified on July 18, 2012, before the U.S. House of Representatives, Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Intellectual Property, Competition and the Internet, about the current use of the International Trade Commission for patent disputes, and whether Congress needs to take action to further regulate the ITC. Chien is nationally known for her work surrounding domestic and international patent law and policy issues. (Opposite) Professor Bradley Joondeph is a well-respected authority on federalism, judicial behavior, and American constitutional development, and he has extensive experience with the Supreme Court.

Constitutional law expert Bradley Joondeph (left) was noted for his teaching passion and national reputation, and well-known defense attorney Gerald Uelmen mentioned for his high-profile career, sense of humor, and expertise in criminal procedure.

“I am grateful for the incredibly supportive and welcoming admissions staff and faculty members at Santa Clara Law. From being able to express my anxieties to the staff over the stresses of law school to being invited to a faculty person’s home for Thanksgiving, Santa Clara Law has truly extended itself to make me comfortable. The abundant diversity within the faculty has also enabled me to find meaningful mentors and friends.”

EXPERIENCE DIVERSITY

Santa Clara Law's grade from National Jurist magazine in their diversity honor roll in 2011—a higher score than any other law school in California.

A LEADER IN DIVERSITY

Santa Clara Law is among the most diverse law schools in the nation. When you choose Santa Clara Law, you will share your law school experience with students from all 50 states and numerous foreign countries, and you will learn from a diverse and talented group of faculty members who are committed to an inclusive learning experience. Plus, our robust community of minority student groups will offer you academic, social, professional, and cultural support.

We encourage you to join our diverse, vibrant, and intellectually stimulating community that values diversity in the classroom and in the workplace. Our faculty, staff, and alumni will work together to support you and help you succeed.

WE WILL HELP MAKE IT POSSIBLE.

Santa Clara Law is committed to helping our students afford their legal education. We especially want to help minority students earn a law degree, because we are committed to the goal of diversifying the legal profession. We urge you to contact our Financial Aid Office, and they can help you make a plan that you can afford. Also, members of our minority student groups are happy to talk with you at any stage of your application process.

WE WANT YOU TO SUCCEED.

Our Academic Success Program offers a variety of ways to support you and help you meet the challenges of law school, through workshops, exam preparation, and special study sessions.

Berkeley, a BSEE in electrical engineering from the University of New Mexico, and a BFA in photography from Cornell.

“Never have I felt so supported as my authentic self than I have at Santa Clara Law. SCU’s Jesuit heritage nurtures a culture of openness and respect for human beings of all backgrounds and beliefs. As an officer of the LGBT student organization and as director of the Honors Moot Court Internal competition, I have worked closely with numerous faculty members—some of them openly LGBT—who have gone out of their way to provide guidance and mentorship to me.”

FACULTY MENTORS

We understand how important mentors and advisors can be, especially for minority students. We are proud to have a very diverse faculty community in terms of ethnicity, religion, gender, and ideology. Plus, our faculty members are not only teaching scholars, they are active advisors and mentors to our students. You will find them to be accessible and helpful during your educational journey here.

Assistant Professor Pratheepan Gulasekaram focuses on constitutional law and immigration.

CAREER SERVICES AND ALUMNI NETWORKING

The San Francisco Bay Area is home to many of the country's top law firms and legal employers, which will help expand your career options. And, according to the 2012 Silicon Valley Index, "Silicon Valley is making an impressive recovery—impressive because our region was the last to succumb when an historic recession gripped our nation, and now it appears to be the first to emerge."

CAREER SERVICES

Whether you aspire to be a trial lawyer, specialize in tax or business law, or serve the underserved, Santa Clara Law's excellent reputation and our Career Services staff will help you maximize opportunities and start your career.

Typically a wide array of employers interview on campus, ranging from large national law firms to boutique patent and intellectual property firms, Big Four accounting firms, and public and government agencies. Hundreds of other employers request résumés from our students. In addition, Law Career Services offers numerous workshops, presentations, and services throughout your three years of law school to help you launch your career, including individual counseling, résumé review, networking receptions, mock interviews, speed networking, and more.

EMPLOYERS SEEK OUT OUR GRADUATES

"With our deep roots in Silicon Valley, we have long looked to Santa Clara University School of Law as a source of talented, next-generation lawyers to help us sustain the unique role we have played and contributions we have made in helping this region become the technology capital of the world. Santa Clara Law has continuously produced forward-thinking, passionate lawyers who can relate at all levels to the clients that we are privileged to represent, and who fit easily within Cooley's culture earmarked by teamwork."

OUR ALUMNI ARE LEADERS

Our alumni serve in leading positions across the legal field, including as general counsel of top high tech companies, partners in national and international firms, judges, and social justice advocates.

Santa Clara Law's robust alumni network includes more than 11,000 graduates across the U.S. and around the world. Our alumni actively support our students by serving as mentors, participating in mock interviews, and hosting networking events.

Nearly every week on campus, our local alumni, many of whom work for large Silicon Valley firms and companies, participate in informational panels, sharing insights on various practice areas and legal specialties. Plus, the dean frequently meets with alumni leaders in law firms and law organizations to solicit guidance on how Santa Clara Law can stay in tune with what firms are looking for and how our students can be best prepared for various career opportunities.

To read about other alumni leaders, visit law.scu.edu/lawyerswholead.

“Not only has Santa Clara nurtured my interest in international law, but its network of alumni and friends has opened many doors for me. I spent a summer in the Munich program including an internship Santa Clara arranged. After graduation I moved to The Hague, initially to work at the International Criminal Court, and subsequently at the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia.”

PICTURE THE FUTURE

HOW TO APPLY

1. Visit law.scu.edu/admissions/ and complete our online application by November 1 for an early action decision, or by February 1 for a regular decision.
2. You'll also need to submit a personal statement—it helps give our admissions committee a more complete picture of you and your experiences.
3. Take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). Although we recommend that you take the LSAT as early as possible, we will accept scores through February of the year you plan to enroll (see www.LSAC.org for dates and locations).
4. Subscribe to LSAC's JD Credential Assembly Service (JD-CAS) and have your transcripts sent directly to LSAC.
5. Letters of recommendation are optional, but strongly encouraged, and you can submit them through JD-CAS. For more information go to: www.LSAC.org.
6. If you are accepted, we will need an official transcript from your undergraduate institution showing the date your degree was awarded.

Transfer and Visiting Students Note: To enroll in the fall, please apply by July 1; for the spring semester, please apply by November 1.

Special Admission Policy Diversity Outreach

We are one of the most diverse law schools in the nation because we understand society's need for lawyers from all backgrounds. We work to identify, recruit, enroll, and provide academic support to ethnic minority applicants and others who show the potential to succeed.

Early Action Program

If you submit your application by November 1 and your admission file is complete by November 30, you'll have our decision by late December. Early action admission is nonbinding—you simply need to make a tuition deposit by April 1 if you decide to enroll.

Transfer and Visiting Student Admission

If you have successfully completed one year of study at another law school accredited by the ABA, you may apply to transfer to or visit at Santa Clara Law (visit law.scu.edu/admissions/ for our online application). We usually reserve 10 to 20 seats each year for the strongest candidates, and our decisions are based heavily on your prior law school performance. To apply, please submit:

- An official transcript from your undergraduate degree-granting school
- An official transcript from your law school
- A letter from your dean saying you are in good standing and eligible to return. If applying as a visitor, the letter of good standing must also state that you have permission to visit at Santa Clara Law.
- Your JD-CAS report sent directly from LSAC

WE CAN HELP YOU AFFORD YOUR DREAM

FINANCIAL AID

Santa Clara Law is committed to helping our students afford their legal education. Each year, we offer millions of dollars in scholarship funds to our students. Our Financial Aid Office will meet with you and help you make a plan that you can afford. We will help you explore all your options, including grants, loans, scholarships, and work-study. Sometimes the financial aid process can be daunting, and we want to help! Please contact our financial aid counselors at 408-554-5048 or visit us online at law.scu.edu/admissions/tuition-financial-aid.cfm

Loans

Most law students are eligible to borrow up to $20,500 through the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan Program. Students can borrow additional federal funds up to the cost of attendance through the Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loan Program.

Employment

We want you to focus on your studies, and so we discourage full-time students from working, at least during your first year. (If you must work, we ask that you don't work more than 10 hours a week.) Part-time, on-campus employment based on financial need (Federal Work Study) is available after the first year. Additional on-campus and off-campus opportunities are available to help pay tuition costs, too.

Fellowships and Scholarships

- Dean's Fellowships—up to full tuition, based on academic achievement
- IP Fellowships—up to full tuition, based on academic achievement and interest in IP law
- Law Faculty Scholarships—need-based partial tuition awards
- Emery Law Scholarships—merit-based partial tuition awards
- Public Interest and Social Justice Scholarships—partial tuition awards, based on demonstrated passion for public interest work
- Numerous Endowed Scholarships—both need and merit-based

How to apply for financial aid:

If you wish to be considered for financial aid, complete the FAFSA (www.fafsa.ed.gov), and be sure to select Santa Clara University School of Law (our code is 001326) as one of the schools to receive your information.

65

A vibrant campus scene with students walking and a person on a red bicycle, surrounded by large trees and a building. The image captures a lively moment on a university campus. In the foreground, a person is riding a bright red bicycle across a green lawn. To their left, a group of students is walking along a paved path, some carrying backpacks. The background is filled with large, mature trees with lush green foliage, and a multi-story building with a stone facade is visible. The overall atmosphere is bright and active.

When you choose Santa Clara Law,
you get the best of both worlds:
a rich, educational experience in a highly engaged, up-to-the-minute, and superconnected culture.
