

Professor Joseph Tomain
University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law

Joseph A. Tomain is a Visiting Assistant Professor at the University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law. Drake Law Review recently published his article, Cyberspace is Outside the Schoolhouse Gate: Offensive, Online Student Speech Receives First Amendment Protection. He currently teaches Contracts, Cyberlaw, and Intellectual Property. Prior to coming to Brandeis, Tomain practiced civil litigation and media law at Frost Brown Todd LLC. He is a former chair of the Ohio State Bar Association's Media Law Committee. Tomain received his undergraduate ('98) and law ('01, cum laude) degrees from the University of Notre Dame.